Unions Want Arrow

Industry 'Ruin' Warning Issued

OTTAWA (UPI) — Representatives of 35,000 Canadian aircraft workers bluntly told the federal government today that it must order the controversial CF-105 Avro Arrow fighter plane into "substantial" production or face a hasty deterioration of the country's aircraft industry.

In a 32-page brief to several cabinet ministers, representatives of the aircraft industry's two major unions poured criticism on the government—both present Conservative and former Liberal—for its aviation policy.

But it emphasized the Arrow. The entire future of the industry was "hanging in the balance" on the government's decision on its production, they said.

The government has as yet made no final decision on the supersonic-speed jet interceptor.

In a Sept. 23 announcement Prime Minister Diefenbaker put off a decision until March and at the same time announced that Canada would purchase the U.S.-produced Bomarc ground-to-air missile.

The government must produce the CF-105, the workers' brief said. A decision to substitute the Bomarc would finish the home industry and deal a severe blow to the over-all Canadian economy, it argued.

Havana Gives Castro Triumphant Welcome

HAZANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro, who led the rebel forces which overthrew the regime of dictator Fulgencio Batista, entered the city of Havana to a hero's welcome today.

The bearded, 32-year-old Castro reached the capital at the head of an armored column of his men following a triumphant trip through the heart of the island from Oriente province in the east. Everywhere he stopped, Castro was mobbed by the populace.

Castro stood in a jeep flanked by four bodyguards as he entered Havana.

His jeep was preceded by eight to 10 tanks and armored cars.

Guns from Cabana fortress thundered a 21-gun salute to the hero of the revolution.

The city was in turmoil with a wild mixture of honking horns, shouts of "Viva," and cheers for Castro.

All business was at a virtual standstill, with employees turned loose to cheer Castro, the man who ousted Batista and proclaimed Dr. Manuel

15 Children Die, Trapped by Fire

BOSWELL, Okla. (AP) — Sixteen persons, 15 of them children or teen-agers, died today in a roaring fire in a four-room wooden home.

All the bodies except that of one child were piled on and around a bed in a rear room which had no outside door.

Apparently someone successfully pushed the one child out a window before succumbing. But the child was dead.

The victims were Mrs. Ara Gardner, 38; her 10 children; three orphaned nieces; and two visiting nephews from Oklahoma City.

Bookner Gardner, the father, was away hunting.

Gardner said when he left for his hunting trip, two stoves, burning wood, were in use. Richburg said he believed the disaster was caused by the stoves. He said the family apparently panicked when the fire was discovered and rushed into one room.

Unemployment Angers Tory

OTTAWA (CP) — Le Droit says J. C. Van Horne, Progressive Conservative MP for Restigouche, M. d. a. w. a. s. k. N.B., is threatening to resign because of what he describes as the federal government's inaction in the face of rising unemployment.

The French-language Ottawa daily says Mr. Van Horne wrote to Labor Minister Starr last December: "I will not remain a supporter of the government to see our people suffer from hunger and the privations caused by unemployment, a problem whose just and reasonable solution remains an unfulfilled promise of our government."

"But budget speeches are not the provincial accounts."

MOST DRUNKS IN CANADA

B.C. Pickled by Frontier

VANCOUVER (CP) — British Columbia is a pioneer province with a large number of "displaced" persons and a frontier psychology, says executive director E. D. McRae of the Alcoholism Foundation of B.C.

And probably that is the reason that this province has the highest percentage of alcoholics of any in Canada.

"We don't know for sure because we don't have the money to do research," Mr. McRae said in an interview. "However, we think it is because of the frontier psychology—much the same thing that develops during a war."

"B.C. doesn't have very many people who are actually natives of the province," he said. "We have a large number of what we might call displaced people who have torn up their roots to move here. They don't face the controls they did before and many

Power Rate Hike Rejected To Save Votes

A recommendation that Premier Bennett be called to the witness stand was the final submission of H. Lee Briggs as he completed his brief before the Shrum royal commission at 12:30 p.m. today.

He also asked that Health Minister Eric Martin and Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston be called.

The request followed evidence from Mr. Briggs that Premier Bennett would not allow a B.C. Power Commission rate increase last fall, "because it would be fatal to the government at the polls."

This quote was contained in a memorandum to Mr. Briggs, former Power Commission general manager, from T. H. Crosby, commission chairman. The memorandum, dated Sept. 5, 1958, was entered as an exhibit by Hugh McGivern, Briggs' counsel.

Mr. Briggs told the commission "the only inference I am able to take from such a statement is that to some people the life of the Social Credit government is of more consequence than the financial stability of a quarter billion dollar corporation owned by the people of British Columbia."

The memorandum from Mr. Crosby to Mr. Briggs further stated . . . "the premier again emphasized the urgent need to economize in all operating and controllable expenses; that personnel should be curtailed wherever possible, and strongly suggested that we follow the government's procedure of not replacing personnel who have left our service. He definitely stated that in connection with the government departments, approval from the premier is required before any department can take on the services of a new employee."

Why Cabinet Men Should Testify

With respect to calling the three cabinet ministers to the witness stand, Mr. Briggs explained Premier Bennett "made a number of public speeches . . . in which he made statements . . . at variance with the facts of the case as I knew them . . ."

He added that Mr. Martin made public charges "that the general manager . . . had gotten himself into a mess and so deeply involved in difficulties, that he had pulled the whole house of cards down around him . . ."

And Mr. Williston "made certain public statements to the effect that he had been scraping with the general manager . . . who had been trying to run the province's relations with the Americans . . ."

Mr. Briggs felt each of the three should give evidence respecting these matters.

Entering his third day on the witness stand, Mr. Briggs also told the Shrum Commission:

1. He had no objection to refinancing government loans at maturity on the same terms and conditions of the original loans;

2. He proposed this means of refinancing to Dr. J. V.

Budget Speeches 'Dangled' Figures

Speaking of the refinancing proposals, which sparked his "rebellion," Mr. Briggs said a number of finance ministers in budget speeches have deducted the power commission liquidating debt from the direct public debt of the province.

"Mr. Bennett has dangled these budget speech tabulations before the students of Victoria College and Mr. Fisher has also certified the budget speech tabulations in his evidence."

Crowds Cheer As De Gaulle Takes Office

(See Page 14)

PARIS (UPI) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle, 67, took office today as first president of the Fifth Republic. He asked former justice minister Michel Debre to become premier and help restore the past glories of France.

Debre, 46, a dynamic Gaullist who has followed the general since wartime days, said he expected to form a cabinet within 24 hours.

De Gaulle summoned Debre to Elysee Palace just 40 minutes after he had accepted the cheering accolades of 500,000 Frenchmen in a triumphal ride along the Champs Elysees.

Alberni Homes Flooded

Thirty homes on River Road in Alberni were surrounded by water today when a combination of 36 hours of incessant rain, nine inches of melting snow, the highest tide of the winter, and a high wind forced the Somass River over its banks.

Entering his third day on the witness stand, Mr. Briggs also told the Shrum Commission:

5. That he told Dr. Fisher in a letter, dated Oct. 14, 1958, he was obligated to point out the serious consequences of the government scheme, "particularly at the moment when we are predicting an over-all annual loss in our operations henceforth;" and

6. "Mr. Fisher either could never or would never understand the way a power utility handles its depreciation and sinking funds. After meetings with him, Mr. J. A. Christie (the former financial manager of the power commission, now retired) would return both literally and figuratively tearing his hair."

Mr. Briggs said the premier called a meeting in his office Sept. 22, 1958. The commissioners and Mr. Briggs thought, he said, its purpose was to discuss the rates change.

"But the premier opened by saying he wanted the Power Commission to issue bonds for $32,000,000 (now $26,000,000) loan from the government; these could either be sold on the open market or taken up by the government.

"Mr. Fisher explained the present sinking fund accumulation would be applied against the face value of the $32 million issue and the amount remaining ($26.7 million) would be issued as Power Commission bonds. The money market would probably ask 5.1 per cent interest today; his thought was to issue 4 per cent bonds to be taken up by the government."

HARTFORD, Conn. (UPI) — A common plea court jury today deliberated the case of Oliver P. Barber, 45.

Barber was arrested on a charge of operating under the influence after his car rammed into the rear of a police cruiser. Officer Wilfred A. Gagnon said Barber's speech was slurred, his eyes were watery and he staggered when he got out of his car.

of 3.11 per cent to the new rate of four per cent." Mr. Briggs said the Power Commissions appointed him as their representative to "try by all possible means" to convince Mr. Fisher his plan would involve substantial extra costs which the Commission "could ill afford."

Fisher 'Adamant' on His Plan

Two meetings he had with Mr. Fisher failed to convince him to change his course, Mr. Briggs said.

"He was adamant that the plan must go through in this or similar form and terms, and quickly," said Mr. Briggs.

Here Dr. Shrum asked the witness if he had told Mr. Fisher that he was not opposed to refinancing on the original terms and conditions of the original issues providing no extra costs would fall on the Power Commission.

"Yes, many times," said Mr. Briggs.

On Oct. 14, 1958, Mr. Briggs said he wrote to Dr. Fisher, pointing out what the government's scheme would mean to the Power Commission in extra costs and pleading that financing "must be realistic."

Part of his letter: "Our viewpoints on accounting policies seem surprisingly close together—provided the case is such that there is no essential relationship between the length of the amortization program . . . and the useful life of the properties on the other hand. In the case of this and other electric utilities, there is that essential relationship; this feature distinguishes utility debt reduction programs from normal government debt amortization programs."

Dr. Shrum said Mr. Briggs' stand on refinancing the issues from the date of maturity is "very generous."

"You would be willing to refinance these issues at maturity at the market interest?" asked Commissioner William Anderson.

"If the interest was higher (than at the original time the debentures were issued) or if it was lower, you would be willing to gamble?" he asked.

"That is right," said Mr. Briggs.

The memorandum from Mr. Crocby to Mr. Briggs, telling of the premier's decision against approving a rate increase because it would be fatal to the government, sparked a mild outburst.

Commissioner Ernest Alexander and Dr. Shrum wanted to know how Briggs got the original copy.

"It was sent to him," said Mr. McGivern. "Some people

B.C. to Battle Latest Bid For Rail Hike

The British Columbia government will oppose the latest request by the national railways for a freight rate increase.

Attorney-General Boimer met Wednesday with the government's freight rate counsel, Charles Brazier, then said:

"Any additional increase cannot be justified, and it will only add to the discrimination which freight rates now effect on the West."

The railways, granted a 17-percent boost in general freight rates several weeks ago, were reported earlier this week seeking permission to apply to the board of transport commissioners for another increase.

Protection For Newsmen Introduced

WASHINGTON (AP)—Legislation to protect newspaper men against punishment for refusing to reveal sources of information was offered in the House of Representatives Wednesday.

Representative Francis E. Dorn (Rep. N.Y.) introduced a bill exempting newspaper, radio and television reporters from being compelled by federal courts to reveal their sources, except in cases affecting national security.

Marie Torre, television columnist for the New York Herald Tribune, began serving a 10-day contempt of court sentence Monday for refusing to disclose on federal court order the source of a story. She said before going to jail she hopes "this will lead to legislation protecting a newspaper man's sources."

Dorn said his bill would extend to the federal courts a recognition of newspaper men's privilege already provided by law in 12 states.

No Fireworks For Chinese New Year's

Victoria's 3,000 Chinese residents will celebrate their New Year Feb. 8, beginning of year 4,657, according to the Chinese lunar calendar.

The celebration is expected to be quiet one, compared with past years, as "most Chinese-Canadians are third generation now," according to Eric Joe, prominent member of the community.

Most of the traditions have died except among "our very old folk," he said.

At one time streets would be thronged with happy residents, greeting friends and neighbors and the air would be filled with the constant din of firecrackers.

But now the event is marked mostly by private parties, dinners, and visits to friends and relatives.

But children still observe the ancient custom of paying respect to their parents, and in return receive silver coins wrapped in red paper.

WOMAN HELD IN BABY KIDNAPPING

NEW YORK (UPI)—A short, blonde woman was taken into custody today for questioning in the kidnap of infant Lisa Rose Chionchio after two boys reported she was mumbling to herself about the case in a subway train.

The woman, described as 25 to 30 years old, at first refused to give her name or answer other questions and was taken to a police station for further questioning.

The infant was taken from the nursery of St. Peter's Hospital Friday night less than 2½ hours after she was born.

New Mayor Backs 'Metro' Plan

(From CP Dispatches)

VANCOUVER — The new mayor of Vancouver took office Wednesday with a promise to seek a "new deal" from the provincial government and to promote metropolitan government in Greater Vancouver.

Tom Alsbury, who defeated long-time mayor Fred Hume in elections last month, also urged a crash program of civic works to ease unemployment, "far sighted" civic planning and "intelligent" public spending.

"We are prepared to pay our way. But we do demand a readjustment of our respective provincial and civic responsibilities in keeping with our local resources."

"He specifically asked for a new financial deal from the province for education, health, social welfare and highways."

On metropolitan government, Mr. Alsbury said: "Our problems have spilled over local boundaries. They now are metropolitan in scope. By friendly persuasion, and not coercion, we must convince our municipal neighbors that our desire for metro is not to dominate, but ensure all shall reap the benefits and lower costs of co-operative action."

STRIKE GOES ON

VANCOUVER — A union official said Wednesday a strike against major Southern Interior lumber operators, now in its 45th day, has stopped 80 per cent of production.

George Mitchell, district secretary of the International Woodworkers of America, told Vancouver Labor Council the strike will go on "for some time" if workers don't win more pay.

"Eighty per cent of the production in that area has been stopped," he said, "and it's not going to be moving for some time if operators don't pay more than the basic $1.53 an hour."

Mr. Mitchell said the Interior area produces 47 per cent of B.C.'s lumber.

KEEP NOSE OUT

VANCOUVER — George Massey, Social Credit member of the legislature, has told Vancouver park commissioners to "keep their noses out of our affairs" regarding the proposed multi-million-dollar industrial development of Boundary Bay.

Mr. Massey, whose riding includes Boundary Bay near the U.S. border south of Vancouver, made the statement as controversy built up over the $100,000,000 plan.

"Why don't Vancouver park board commissioners mind their noses out of our affairs?" Mr. Massey said in an interview. "If they are concerned with the loss of beaches they could explore the misuse of the lower mainland's great natural beach, Iona Island, for a sewage disposal plant."

MOUNTIE SLUGGED

VANCOUVER — Two men arrested following an RCMP drug raid on a Kitsilano house Wednesday, have been charged with trafficking.

Charged are Edward Campbell, 44, and Gordon Robert Scott, 38.

RCMP Constable Dell Klatt required several stitches to close a head wound he received at the house when he was slugged over the head with an iron bar.

FIRING SQUADS FOR BATISTA FOLLOWERS

'War Crimes' Trials Open in Cuba

15 Army Officers Executed

HAVANA (AP) — Speedy "war crimes" trials for followers of fallen dictator Fulgencio Batista have begun in Cuba. Fifteen military officers already have been executed.

Provisional President Manuel Urrutia said thousands of persons will be tried by revolutionary courts in "the same manner as war criminals were tried in Germany." They will be charged with crimes against the Cuban people.

Some accused still are being sought, Urrutia told a press conference Wednesday night. At least 1,100 persons have been reported arrested since Batista fled to the Dominican Republic a week ago and victorious rebel leader Fidel Castro proclaimed Urrutia as provisional president.

MORE GUNPLAY

Gunfire flared briefly in Havana again Wednesday night. Machine-guns and other automatic weapons fired for about 15 minutes near the American-operated Nacional Hotel as rebel militia were reported pursuing several carloads of men who had been shooting at random in the streets.

The militia still is trying to eliminate diehard Batista supporters, including members of a private army called "The Tigers", which belongs to the former senator Rolando Masferrer.

Masferrer fled by yacht to Key West, Fla. Minister of the Presidency Luis Bush said Cuba will demand his extradition on charges of taking away $17,000,000 belonging to the people. United States customs officials said Masferrer's party sentenced to death by revolutionary court after being found guilty of killing young rebel. — (AP Wirephoto)

Traditionally, political refugees are granted safe conduct from embassies to the border but those charged with common crimes might not be given this privilege.

Trials of 207 Batista men charged with brutally beating prisoners and in some cases with killing them began Wednesday in Santiago in eastern Cuba.

West Germany, The Netherlands and Israel today joined the United States and Britain in extending diplomatic recognition to Urrutia's government.

Urrutia said his government would respect "all international agreements on rights of asylum." Hundreds of Batista followers, left in the lurch when the dictator suddenly fled early New Year's Day without tipping them off, have taken refuge in Latin-American embassies.

Mr. Fleming Starts to Fight

A DECISIVE CHANGE IN THE Canadian Government's fiscal policies was announced by Mr. Fleming this week. Admitting that the Government had inflated the nation's money supply by 12 per cent in the last year, Mr. Fleming said it "would be undesirable to encourage or permit a substantial degree of monetary expansion in the near future. Thus we can look forward to a lessening of upward pressure from that source on price levels."

If the Government has indeed decided, very late, to stop inflating the currency this is good news. But even if monetary inflation ceases, other inflationary pressures will remain, chiefly the Government's budgetary deficit and the cycle of wage-price increases.

Mr. Fleming tries to argue that these dangers are exaggerated. The present situation, he says, is not one of overt inflation but "the fear of inflation."

This is only to mince words. There has been overt monetary inflation in the expansion of the money supply, as admitted by Mr. Fleming. There has been a rise in retail prices during 1958 of more than 2 per cent. If this is not overt inflation, what is?

The much larger peril, however, is that Mr. Fleming chooses to call potential inflation. For though he doesn't say so, the Government has built a huge new inflationary pressure into the whole economy and we have yet to feel it.

We shall feel it as soon as business begins to recover this year. Then the banking system will start to unload its heavy accumulation of government bonds and lend the resulting cash to business borrowers, thus creating more extra money.

For the moment, during slack times, the dynamite introduced into the monetary system has not exploded but it will explode, unless steps are taken to repress it, as soon as good times return.

The Government will face its gravest crisis at the moment when the banks begin to sell the bonds which they alone would buy during the last six months. A large sale of these bonds will tend to drive down their price and automatically raise interest rates beyond the present high peak.

The Government will then be pressed to support the bond market, which it could do, under those circumstances, only by creating still more new money and buying up the bonds.

Mr. Fleming's announcement, if it means anything, means that the Government will refuse to do this, will let the bond market take its course. As a result, we may be in for still higher interest rates, bearing heavily on provincial and municipal governments and private borrowers.

The only way to avoid these grave consequences is to reduce the Government's borrowings, its demands on the existing supply of money. Mr. Fleming obviously knows that and indicates that he is struggling desperately to hold down government spending in the next fiscal year.

He cannot hope, of course, to balance the next budget but he may be able to reduce the current deficit which he still estimates at $700 million, though in fact it is far above $1 billion by any realistic reckoning.

Much will depend on the struggle which Mr. Fleming is evidently waging with his freely-spending colleagues in the cabinet.

If he can reduce the deficit he will reduce the Government's demands on the bond market, thus help to strengthen the price of all bonds and arrest the rise in interest rates. Even more important, he will revive the public's confidence in bonds and in the future value of money; for it was a decline in public confidence last year which prevented the Government from selling more bonds to the private investor and forced it to borrow from the Bank of Canada, with the creation of new money, and from the private banks, with the creation of potential new money later on.

The finance minister finds the Government's reckless spending policies catching up with him but he deserves credit for his decision against any further direct monetary inflation. Can he now persuade his colleagues to avoid another huge and perhaps unmanageable deficit this year?

The Talking Delegate

WHILE THE REAL BUSINESS of Mr. Mikoyan's visit to the United States will get under way later this month when he returns to Washington for talks with State Secretary Dulles and President Eisenhower, the Soviet spokesman has already indicated a decidedly conciliatory attitude on the Berlin question.

Whether this more favorable appearance arises from a misinterpretation of Mr. Khrushchev's original announcements on Soviet Berlin policy, or whether the Allies' subsequent united and determined stand has influenced the Kremlin, cannot be determined from this distance.

It is known, however, that the Western democracies have prepared "contingency plans" to see them through any set of circumstances that Russia may precipitate in Berlin. Mr. Mikoyan's assurance that the Allies will not be denied access to the German metropolis could well be a direct result of this unanimity.

When Mr. Mikoyan says that access can "be arranged" he is, of course, leaving lots of room for problems to arise. If the "arrangements" call for Western recognition of the East German Communist regime there will be immediate trouble. The West declines to recognize the puppet government on the grounds that it was not established by free elections. A Soviet pressure play over Berlin access will not overcome such fundamental objections:

The Russian envoy's suggestion that the United Nations could be employed to ensure the functioning of air and land corridors between West Germany and the political island of Berlin carries promise, and no doubt will be fully explored during the forthcoming talks.

One aspect of the visit, at least, appears to have earned wide agreement. There is a valuable function to be served by informal face-to-face talks of high-level representatives of East and West, and by an increased traffic of such visitors between Russia and the United States. Small "meetings without agenda," urged by Mr. Mikoyan, may do much more for the cause of peace than months of top-level wrangling about what should be talked about at a possible conference.

The Communist emissary need not be received with open arms, but he might profitably be listened to with open minds—even while keeping our powder dry.

The Neighbors Confer

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE TO TELL from the communiques just how much progress was made at the Ottawa trade and economic conference in ironing out differences between Britain and the United States.

Previous meetings of the joint committee to discuss points of contention between the two neighbors have not been particularly successful. There is evidence, however, that the latest talks were held in a new atmosphere of United States awareness of Canadian problems, and that at least some progress was made in a meeting that was described as very harmonious.

It is interesting that the delegates took time from their own problems to study the situation arising from the European Common Market and the recent differences of opinion between Britain and France.

That Market, particularly if it is expanded from six nations to 17 as has been proposed, will have important effects on North America's trade with Europe. The Ottawa dispatches suggest that the whole problem will be studied with a view to exerting a moderating influence on the two allies across the Atlantic. Closer to home, the United States has been led to realize that its action in prosecuting certain U.S. electrical firms because of the activity of their subsidiaries in Canada, where such activity is entirely legal under Canadian law, is reflected in Ottawa.

The discussions have produced a statement by the U.S. representatives that there is no intention by the United States of interfering with Canadian sovereignty. The dispatches do not, however, further clarify the situation.

There is hope, as a result of the talks, that the questions of U.S. oil quotas, and lead and zinc restrictions, may find early solutions. At the same time, Canada has undertaken to consult with the U.S. before applying its new anti-dumping laws and recent import curbs on certain foods.

While there may not be full agreement, our joint problems are at least laid open to discussion and friendly solution at these periodic meetings. The two countries are approaching their problems as partners rather than as opponents.

A Little Whiff of Canada

THE weather bureau tries to tell us that the snow which recently descended upon the Pacific Coast came from a leakage of cold air up in Alaska. I don't believe a word of it. Whatever the experts may say, the snow came out of Canada just to remind us of our nationality. I have often reminded the isolated coastal tribes of that fact before now, but they need continual reminders and they haven't had any for two snowless years.

Knowing that their Canadianism had worn thin under perpetual sunshine, nature has jogged their memories with a cold, white finger. It is good for us to remember now and then (though not too often) that we are part of Canada.

A coastal man may not have read the British North America Act, the Confederation debates or the latest budget speech in Ottawa but even if he were illiterate he could have read the blank white sheet unfolded before him last Monday.

This is the sovereign Canadian document, sealed, attested and indefeasible through more than three hundred years, the hard-but-equitable contract under which we have lived since the first French explorer saw what Kipling first called Our Lady of the Snows.

Only one tiny fringe of Canada has ever escaped the contract but occasionally it has to be asserted and enforced lest we assume, in our green complacency, that it has lapsed. It does not lapse. It is the governing paragraph in our Terms of Union. And though it is a little disconcerting at first, a man can get used to it if he meets the snow head-on, like other Canadians.

FOR this purpose certain tools are required. Besides a shovel, the apprentice Canadian needs an axe and some trees to cut. I can't imagine how any man can meet the reality of the nation's winter face to face.

Now I am aware that most coastal houses now-a-days are not heated with native cordwood but with various liquids and vapors imported from long distances at great cost. The house is heated by these chemicals but the man is not heated, not inwardly.

No matter what the temperature may be in his room and body, his spirit shivers at the sight of so much glittering cold outside his window. He will instantly stop shivering, however, if he grasps axe and saw and attacks a good dry log.

SAWING wood in deep snow these days will make a Canadian even out of a soft, enervated Victorian. Then, returning to his house at nightfall and watching the flames of his own hard-earned fuel, he may read the history of Canada and understand it for the first time.

He will never understand it beside a radiator while looking out on snowdrop blossoms, yellow jasmine, Christmas roses and other subversive, un-Canadian activities.

In an emergency like this my sympathy goes to the man who owns no axe, saw or dead, dry trees ready for burning. I sometimes wonder, indeed, how this outer, green ring of the nation survives within Confederation at all when its inhabitants are attached to Canada only by the artificial snow and flickering weather of a television screen.

As I fell my trees and cut them up and drag them to the fireplace—thus warming myself twice, as Thoreau discovered—my pity embraces all those who have to face winter with nothing better than an electrical box.

BUT there was an even more pitiable sight outside my window last Monday. The coastal birds, lured here by the advertisements of the tourist bureau, which urges everybody to "Follow the Birds to Victoria," were suffering from a human conspiracy. They did not bar for weather like that, they don't know how to meet snow any better than men, and in common honesty we owe them some compensation. The man who refuses to spare them some bread-crums, grain or suet is no Canadian, and no human either.

As I shoveled snow away, cleared a few patches of earth and spread grain for the quail, the pheasants, the juncos and a family of misguided bluejays who had listened to the tourist bureau and decided not to winter in California, the oddity of human nature struck me with special force.

A species which is spending a large part of its income to build the bombs of self-destruction nevertheless pauses to preserve the lives of a few feathered creatures. For himself he splits atoms. For the birds he grinds crumbs. Which proves that he still has some crumbs of humanity and Canada in him yet.

Not Pleasant Dreams

From The New York Times

EVEN the cyberneticians don't know quite what they are up to when they build machines that will not only calculate but weigh arguments, get hungry, sleepy, tired or cross; and then—that is, the cyberneticians—use these machines for a better understanding of the human brain and nervous system.

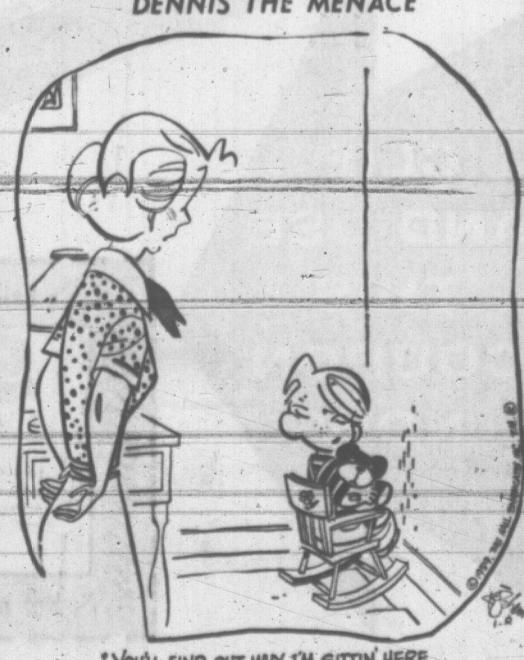

Has the reader heard of Grey Walter's automatic tortoises, Elmer and Elsie? They will trouble his dreams if he has. Has he read the sinister prediction of Samuel Butler, nearly a century ago, that the time may come when "man shall become to the machines what the horse and dog are to us"?

This is the stuff that dreams are made on—and not necessarily pleasant dreams.

So it is at least small relief to learn that at a conference on "The Mechanization of Thought Processes" meeting in London, has been told that man will have to know a lot more about his own central nervous system "before he can build machines that can think in the accepted sense of the word."

John A. and Sovereignty

Mrs. Cynthia Hunter's tribute to Sir John A. Macdonald in your issue of 2nd inst. is quite timely in this blossoming period of Canada's sovereignty because he, in the estimation of many students, was, although a Tory, one of Canada's first nationalists.

At the time of Confederation Sir John (an English speaking Canadian) and Sir George Etienne Cartier (a French speaking Canadian) were of the opinion that:

1. The name of the Federation should be the "Kingdom of Canada";
2. The Federation should be a Kingdom;
3. The new arrangement should terminate the rule of the British Secretary-of-State for the Colonies;
4. The executive head should be the Sovereign, or the Sovereign's representative;
5. The authority of the British Government should be only a fiction.

In 1867 these ambitious opinions were radical. It is my opinion Sir John was too clever not to know the creation of a Canadian Kingdom, in accordance with these five opinions, meant equality of status with Great Britain. However, at that period a politically independent Canada would have been an enticing bit of cheese for the rodent just over her southern fence, so the British Government merged the federating colonies into one "under the name of Canada." Looking back we can appreciate Britain's wise judgment in 1867.

No doubt Sir John realized he had peered too far into the future. It was logical that he declared: "A British Subject I was born, a British Subject I will die."

But Canada, long after Sir John died, did become a Kingdom. When Her Majesty the Queen, as Princess Elizabeth, visited this nation she mentioned the "Canadian Crown," and we, who listened and understood, knew the British Crown had been divided into eight crowns, one each for eight different kingdoms. When she succeeded her beloved father she became Queen of Canada, and that is why Canadians sing "O Canada" after they toast her, meaning "Our Queen, our Country."

Her Majesty when she addressed the United Nations Assembly in New York stressed the political independence of the eight kingdoms and the republics that form the Commonwealth. Please note she did not use the terms "British Empire" or "British Commonwealth"; just the term the "Commonwealth of Nations." That became the official name of this marvelous group of sovereign states when India became a republic.

The real danger to spoken language comes from the slovenly, careless speaker to whom Mr. Tobin refers, and perhaps even more to the voices such speakers use. All nasal, strident, guttural voices injure speech and, unfortunately, such voices are regarded by many people as natural.

Fortunately there are great forces at work to prevent too much deterioration of our wonderful English tongue. Every well-spoken teacher in the classroom exercises a wide influence, so do

Looking Over the Cold War

TAKING STOCK OF THE 1959 SITUATION, there are those who think that our position in the cold war has improved and that in the end all will be well if we stand firm and persevere. They think that time is on our side. On the other hand, there are those who think that the balance of military power is, and also that in the underdeveloped regions of Africa, Asia, and South America, the tide is running against us. They do not think that it is enough to stand firm and persevere. It is necessary also to take bold and costly measures to turn the tide. They think that time is not on our side unless we make a prodigious effort in armaments, in the development of our own economy to support them, and in a demonstration that there is a way, other than the Communist way, by which the underdeveloped nations can overcome their weakness and master their poverty.

But that $90, which the West is able to save and invest productively about 10 per cent of our income per capita per year. That comes to an average of about $90 invested per person in new plant and machinery. That is why the Western countries are growing richer—as a matter of fact at an average rate of 2 per cent per capita per year.

But that $90, which the West is able to save and invest, is more than the whole income of the average person in the underdeveloped countries. That is why they remain poor and are unable to do much about their poverty.

This is the point at which the Communist challenge really becomes so formidable. For Communism, as practiced in the Soviet Union, has proved that if the leaders are powerful enough and ruthless enough, the capital required for the new technology can be extracted from the work and the sacrifices of the people themselves.

The tyranny of Stalin and of Mao is in its essence the method of capital formation of a backward people which does not have access to the capital markets of the richer countries. Therefore, to avert Stalinism of one sort or another in the underdeveloped countries, it is imperative that the West provide and lend the capital needed for the transition from the backwardness to the modern technology.

Love of Life

COWARD that I am, I can't go to bed at night with a book like Huxley's "Brave New World Revisited." (The courage for that comes only in the daylight hours.)

At 11 p.m. or thereabouts, I want no regeneration in China, no satellites going into orbit, no populations that we only have one square foot of living space apiece.

I want a book that's pleasantly light and gay, and full of the love of life. This past week, I've had two such books—"The Love Letters of Phyllis McGinley," and "Merry Christmas, Happy New Year," which is also light verse by Miss McGinley.

Both came to me as Christmas gifts from an American friend, and I can't think how I missed Phyllis McGinley until now. For it seems that her poems have appeared in the New Yorker, Good Housekeeping, the Atlantic Monthly and various other magazines.

In 1954, "Love Letters" won the Edna St. Vincent Millay Memorial Award, and, in 1955, Miss McGinley was elected to the National Institute of Arts and Letters.

Time Magazine has called her "the best writer of light verse in the United States." Lewis Gannett of the New York Herald Tribune has written "I suspect that some of her verses will be quoted when the work of the pale worried poets who win prizes is well forgotten."

How stupid of me, then, to have missed her. And how pleasant to have a column in which to tell friends about two books which might give them some moments of quiet enjoyment.

Serious minds might call these verses trivial. But I like them.

I like the poem, "Lady Selecting Her Christmas Cards," that begins:

"Fastidiously, with gloved and careful fingers,

YOUR HEALTH

Through the marked samples she pursues her search."

I've seen that often, but I've never thought that such a familiar sight could be made into a charming poem.

There's "Office Party" too. "This holy night in open forum Miss McIntosh, who handles files, Has lost one shoe and her decorum," it begins, and ends with:

"And the plump blonde from Personnel Collapses by the water cooler."

I also enjoyed "Dear Madam, We Know You Will Want to Contribute," for we all know about recalling the boys in camp and decorating letters with illuminated stamps. We're all at one time or another "sent along a tenter, or anyway a fiver so that the Friends of (Something) can inaugurate their drive!"

These are fun, but I especially enjoyed a more serious poem about a Doll House.

"After the children left it, after it stood For a while in the attic, Along with the badminton set, and the skis too good

To be given away, and the Peerless Automatic Popcorn Machine that used to fly into rages,

And the Dr. Doolittle books, and the hamster pages.

She brought it down once more To a bedroom, empty now, on the second floor

And put the furniture in."

I love that. It's so vivid and so true to life. I can see it all—the glazed turkey on the flowered plate, the Lilliput writing desk, the tiny, exact, mahogany newel post."

"Merry Christmas, Happy New Year" is the gayer, prettier books with its decorations by Ilonka Karasz. (Decorations is, exactly, the right word.) But the not-to-be-missed "Doll House" comes in "Love Letters."

Both books are love letters in that both are filled with a love of life. That's the secret of their charm—the love of life and the deceptively simple writing style.

Thank you, good American friend, for sending them to me.

Changes After Stroke

Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation

A woman was just telling me about her mother who, for many years, had been so kind to her, probably especially so because she was badly crippled. The mother was love and kindness itself. And then one day she felt a bit faint; she lay down for a while, and then she got up and seemed perfectly all right. But for a few hours, she had difficulty finding the words she wanted to use and sometimes she used the wrong word.

In technical speech, she had a slight aphasia. Then the family noticed a remarkable, most distressing change in the mother. Formerly, always an immaculate housekeeper, she suddenly became slovenly and careless, and even dirty. Formerly well dressed, she began to go out in old and soiled clothes. Formerly a wonderful cook, she got so that she couldn't even boil potatoes well. Formerly absolutely devoted to her daughter, she turned on her viciously and malevolently, calling her all sorts of names and hurting her in every way that she could.

The poor daughter suffered so terribly under this constant abuse that she was tempted to hate her mother, but she resisted this with all her might. Later, when she learned from me about the little strokes and what they often do, she realized what had happened, and then a great peace came over her. As she wrote me later, "No words can describe how grateful I felt for this information—information which enabled me to understand perfectly, and hence to forgive everything."

So many of my patients have been exceedingly grateful to me as this woman now is for helping them to understand why a mother or a father changed from being very loving to being mean and hateful. I keep telling these people, "Remember that your mother is not at all responsible for what she is doing; she had a little stroke which destroyed one of the best parts of her brain; hence it is a very sick person who is being mean to you. Forgive her and keep forgiving her."

Often one of the kindest things a physician can do is to explain these mental changes to patients. I will never forget a couple of unmarried sisters around 50 years of age who came to see me years ago. They had lived together affectionately all their days, until the elder one got a very toxic exophthalmic goiter and, as a result, became irritable, unreasonable and a times definitely psychotic.

Turning angrily on her devoted younger sister, for no reason at all she accused her of many supposed faults, and nearly broke her heart. The sick woman was so disturbed mentally that she refused all treatment, and soon died. After the funeral, as I was chatting with the surviving younger sister, I happened to remark that in many cases the poisons from a toxic goiter seriously damage the brain. With this, the little woman, with her face alive with eagerness, said, "You mean to say that my sister's terrible behavior to me in those last months could all have been due to those poisons that killed her?" When I said, "Yes," the woman was so happy she didn't know what to do. She said, "Now for the rest of my days I can live happily, freed from that terrible thought that my dear sister had turned against me and had come to hate me."

In that excellent statistical bulletin published by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, I now read that each year accidents take some 13,000 lives on this continent. Accidents on the farm account for about one-fifth of the fatal injuries. Most of the victims are men. Accidents involving machinery, and particularly tractors, account for more than a third of the fatal injuries.

What happens often is that the tractor rolls over and crushes the driver. Curiously, drowning is the second cause of death on farms. Most of the victims are children. Another great cause of accidents is a gun. Other causes are injuries by animals, fires, explosions, electrocution, and lightning. In several of the agricultural states, one of the commonest causes of terrible accidents to hands and arms is the corn-picker.

Usually, one gets the idea from current literature that a Mickey Finn is a powerful sedative, such as choral hydrate, that can cause a person to go sound asleep. Some years ago, in the San Francisco Call-Bulletin, the columnist, H. Allen Smith, wrote that a Mickey, properly made, is really a powerful purgative, which is designed to get a trouble-making customer out of the saloon as quickly as possible. According to Smith, its chief ingredient is jalap, which is a powerful purge. I, too, have heard that the Mickey Finn is a powerful purge, but I am sure that the most suitable drug for this purpose would be Croton oil. This is so strong that only a few drops of it will turn a man inside out. Perhaps some old ex-harpooner will write and tell us the truth about this matter, and perhaps who was the original "Mickey Finn."

BATTLE IN CONGRESS

Democrats Bid For Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican congressional leaders struck back today with cries of "politics" against Democratic contentions that the Eisenhower administration is lagging behind in the space age.

In the opening round of what appeared likely to become a party fight in the new Congress, Senators Styles Bridges (Rep., N.H.), and Thomas Kuchel (Rep., Calif.), assailed the call of Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson, of Texas, for his party to seize national leadership from the White House.

Johnson told fellow Senate Democrats Wednesday there is a "deficit of vigor" in the Eisenhower administration. They therefore have a mandate to assume constructive leadership "beginning now, not two years hence," he added.

Johnson told fellow Senate Republicans Wednesday there is a "deficit of vigor" in the Eisenhower administration. They therefore have a mandate to assume constructive leadership "beginning now, not two years hence," he added.

Population Boost Heads For 18 Million by 1960

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's population is well along the road to the 18,000,000 mark.

The final estimate for 1958 still is being prepared by the bureau of statistics but there are indications that this country started off the new year with about 17,275,000 people.

This compared with a population of 16,887,000 at Jan. 1 last year.

Provided no major economic disaster overtakes this country during this year and there is no unusual fluctuation of the natural increase, the 18,000,000 mark probably will be passed about mid-1960.

EXTRA SHORT-TERM BORROWING

Ottawa (CP) — The government decided to raise an extra $100,000,000 this month through short-term borrowing. Finance Minister Fleming announced Wednesday the government's weekly offerings of 91-day treasury bills has been raised to $135,000,000 from $115,000,000. There are five weekly offerings this month.

Officials said the government will revert back to the $115,000,000 weekly offerings in February. Treasury bills provide a quick way for the government to raise funds to tide it over for a short period of time. The money borrowed has to be repaid in 91 days.

The bills are purchased by banks, investment dealers and other financial groups on the basis of yield bids. The yields have increased during the last half-year from a low of nine-tenths of one per cent last August to 3.49 last week.

To provide for the weekly rise in the treasury bill offering, the cabinet increased the authorized ceiling for such issues to $1,595,000,000 from $1,495,000,000. Mr. Fleming said the amount at present outstanding is $1,515,000,000.

This is the first boost in the ceiling in a year.

High Fruit Markups Denied by Merchants

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Retail Merchants Association, voice of independent retailers here, today denied charges in the MacPhee royal commission report that the independent grocers are overcharging for Okanagan apples.

H. C. Bolton, association secretary, said most independent grocers mark up the wholesale price by 10 per cent.

He said a large number of independents charge $1.30 for a package of Okanagan apples for which the wholesaler gets $1.25.

Mr. Bolton said the Association is making a survey of the situation among its members.

Four-Year-Old Girl Killed In Fire at Courtenay Home

COURTENAY (CP) — A four-year-old girl died, apparently from asphyxiation, in a house fire in downtown Courtenay Wednesday night.

Pronounced dead on arrival at hospital in Comox was Terry La Fortune, daughter of Mrs. Jennie La Fortune, who discovered the fire and turned in the alarm.

Fire Chief Lorne Cleland said he believed the fire in the two-storey home started in a front room. An investigation was scheduled for today.

Mrs. La Fortune was alone at home with her daughter when the fire broke out. Two other children, Wendy, 13, and Lawrence, 10, were staying with relatives.

The dead child was discovered on the floor in her own bedroom. The bedding was undamaged by flames.

PLAN TOO PAINFUL

Pigeons Can't Pop

NANAIMO (CP) — Nanaimo Hospital officials aren't expected to take up the suggestion of a Lantzville resident to rid the premises of pigeons.

He suggested feeding the pigeons grain cooked in a way which has it expand like popcorn once inside the bird.

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals announced it will prosecute any such program under laws that prohibit any method "with pain involved" for removing bothersome birds.

An SPCA official said the Nanaimo branch won't stand by idly and watch pigeons swell up and burst.

The children's father is reported to have been in hospital in Chemainus when the fire broke out.

After a three-hour sitting Judge Hanna ruled that traffic on the inside lane, nearest the centre of the road, has the right of way and not traffic on the outside, or curb lane.

The appeal was conducted by Harold Hine, Nanaimo, who later said that this is the only recorded decision on this point. Alastair I. MacDonald acted for the Crown.

TRAFFIC RULING REVERSED

Inside Lane Right-of-Way

DUNCAN — A decision rendered in police court here several months ago against Mrs. B. Hess, Vancouver, was reversed Wednesday morning by Appeal Court Judge L. A. Hanna.

Col. A. C. Sutton, police magistrate, had ruled that on a multi-lane highway traffic nearest the curb had the right of way.

Power Staff Overloaded Probe Told

B.C. Power Commission engineering and construction staffs were "overloaded" many times during 1956 and 1957, H. Lee Briggs told the Schrum Commission on power matters Wednesday.

In a section of the former general manager's extensive brief entitled "BCPC Internal Business Policies," he explained excessive costs involved when staffs are oversized.

Aside from payroll "loss" the firm with an overloaded staff, he said, is inefficient due to lack of supervision.

"At a time (1956 and 1957) when boom conditions in British Columbia were such that competent staff was most difficult or impossible to obtain, there were many times when the engineering and construction staffs were overloaded.

WORK REDUCED

"By 1958," he added, "this situation had been substantially overcome by the corrective steps which had been taken, and by the slow decline in the power commission's outstanding work volume."

Mr. Briggs said serious efforts were made on two different occasions to reduce B.C. Power Commission staff to a minimum.

But as general manager of an expanding organization, he believed the edict by Premier Bennett to cut staff by 5 per cent was "ridiculous" and it was "not taken too seriously."

Mr. Briggs said in 1957, Premier Bennett instructed the chairman of the power commission, T. H. Crosby, that when employees left the services of the government to take other work, they were not to be replaced.

He provided two letters from the premier stating the policy was to be effective April 1, last year.

NO REPLIES

"Perhaps some departments of the civil service had excessive staffs at this time; this I do not know, except that by the summer of 1958, it became difficult to get written letter replies from their departments on matters of government business," said Mr. Briggs in his brief.

He added, "How the staff requirements could be reduced as new power plants were being brought into service and new lines were being built ... could not be figured out."

Mr. Briggs related that in July, 1958, he went to see the deputy minister of forests when a letter went unanswered. The deputy minister said there was a great stack of letters unanswered. "But as a result of government policy he was left with only one girl to look after the work of the head office of the forestry branch of the province of British Columbia.

"For him I felt most sorry; for the premier's policy of no-replacement hirings, I thought, how ridiculous can B.C. get in the conduct of its valuable public business.

The cost of excess is considerable, but the cost of neglect, whether voluntary or involuntary, in big business, is tremendous."

Liquor Topic 'A' At Session

REGINA (CP)—Liquor legislation is expected to highlight the third session of the 13th Saskatchewan legislature, opening Feb. 12.

A legislative committee which studied Saskatchewan's liquor laws, recommended to the CCF government last July that they be relaxed, as in Alberta and Manitoba. This should make liquor the main topic this year, with time zoning a perennial close second.

Premier T. C. Douglas indicated Wednesday there is little hope of members getting home before the beginning of April.

"There will be a fairly heavy legislative program placed before the legislature," the premier said.

The 10-member liquor committee recommended unanimously the establishment, subject to local option, of new types of liquor outlets, including beverage rooms, hotel and restaurant dining rooms, restaurant cocktail rooms associated with dining rooms, and clubs. Mixed drinking would be allowed.

Now, Saskatchewan has beer parlors for men only.

Germany Trains Rocket Troops

BONN (AP)—Training of West German rocket troops will begin this month, the defence ministry announced Wednesday. Two launching ramps for short-range ground-to-ground rockets have been set up in the Eifel Mountains. The rockets are equipped with dummy warheads. Atomic warheads for the rockets are controlled by the United States.

NEW YORK (NEA) — Next to the playoff itself, there is one thing we will remember about the 1958 football season. It is the picture of Larry MacPhail sitting in a Yankee Stadium box seat at the Colts-Giants championship game and comparing the situation to baseball.

"I never believed that pro football would catch on like this," said MacPhail, bundled in a great coat, a floppy hat covering his head. One of the great showmen of our time was looking at the third successive sellout crowd enthusiastically responding to organized college-type cheerleaders.

"I couldn't conceive the pros taking the play away from the colleges. They play so late I thought the weather would be against anything like this. But the pro owners who were around at the start deserve everything they got. They stuck with it through some lean days."

Bert Bell, from out of its ranks, put the National Football League across. A real commissioner with unlimited authority and respect, he ignored every stupid restriction crackpots try to place on professional sports. He did what was best for the league and in his own way. He stuck to unlimited substitution, opening the door to specialists and permitting no letdown in the tempo of play. He put the goal posts back on the goal line, setting up the spectacular field goal.

"He put in the sudden-death extra period to assure the finality of the championship game."

The National Football League is paid for television, but television where Bell wants it to be. No TV in a city where a game is being played.

Could baseball do the same?

"Of course it could," said MacPhail. "But they're so busy being silly in baseball that they don't have time to think like Bell, who acts while baseball officials talk."

Ford Frick, the baseball commissioner, contends the major league can do nothing about curbing the televising of their games into minor league territory because that might be in violation of anti-trust laws. Bell obviously refused to listen to legal advice of that nature, ordered the ban on TV where it would hurt.

"I told Dan Topping that if the National League was ridiculous enough to leave New York, the American League should put another club in Yankee Stadium," added MacPhail. "That practically would turn the National League into a western league, which is about all it amounts to now anyway."

MacPhail, currently breeding cattle and running horses, has never had a flop, except when he was one of a group which tried to kidnap the Kaiser, and then it was close. He revived the Cincinnati and Brooklyn franchises, refurbished Yankee Stadium. He introduced night baseball to the majors, campaigned against it being overdone.

So when MacPhail put the job turned in by Bert Bell in pro football over anything baseball has done in more recent years, it is worth reporting.

Bell perhaps is the most capable administrator in sports today.

Consider the champion Colts. Five years ago, when the Dallas Texans were moved to Baltimore, Bell went to Carroll Rosenbloom, the textile, plastic and electronics magnate, and asked him to buy the defunct franchise. Bell had coached Rosenbloom as a halfback at Pennsylvaniana.

"He did not ask me to buy the franchise," recalls Rosenbloom. "He beat me over the head until I came up with the money."

Bell practically shoved Don Kellett into the Colts' general management.

Rosenbloom gave the franchise financial security. Kellett got the coach, Webb Ewbank, and the players, Johnny Unitas and Alan Ameche, for two. Baltimore got a winner and now is one of the superior professional football properties.

As Larry MacPhail stresses, baseball could use a little leadership of this type.

Offer to Buy Lions Gets Rude Greeting

VANCOUVER (CP) — Member-owners left little doubt as to their wishes here Wednesday night when they rejected an offer from a private group of Vancouver businessmen to take over management of the British Columbia Lions football club.

The Lions, dormmarts of the Western Interprovincial Football Union since they entered the league in 1954, were sought by at least two groups, one headed by Nat Bailey and a second by a club director, Bill Ralston. Others were pending but never were officially presented to the annual meeting. Bailey, a prominent restaurateur as well as president and a major shareholder of Vancouver Mounties of the Pacific Coast (baseball) League, headed a group which offered to form a stock company, sell shares to present members and guarantee the club $110,000 operating capital.

The Ralston offer was $100,000 for the outright purchase of the club.

LARGE ATTENDANCE

In a standing vote, fewer than a dozen favored the Bailey bid and following this Ralston withdrew his offer.

Talk of selling the club attracted the largest attendance ever to an annual meeting. About 1,800 of the club's 3,500 voting members turned out, twice the normal annual meeting attendance.

Members lost little time in indicating their feelings. President Harry Spring of the British Columbia Lions, stated emphatically Wednesday night that newly appointed head coach Wayne Robinson has been given a free hand in running the Lions.

Robinson, 28, line coach at Winnipeg last season, was signed by the Lions early in December.

Spring, addressing the annual meeting of the football club said:

"Robinson now is on a scouting trip in the United States. Before he left Vancouver, I personally made it clear to him that he had an absolute free hand in the selecting and signing of assistant coaches and players and in the handling of the team.

NO LIMITATIONS

"I also made it clear to him that there were no limitations placed on him in regard to the amount he could offer any player. Likewise he was told he was free to make any player purchases or trades that he considered desirable and at such prices he considers reasonable."

HECKLERS BUSY

But the situation was reversed when Bailey rose with his offer. It was doubtful he would have been able to read it to the meeting if Spring had not appealed to members to hear him out. Hecklers repeatedly hurled taunts at Bailey.

Bailey said, "We are not trying to buy the club."

"No you're trying to steal it," an unidentified heckler shouted.

"We are trying to streamline the management," Bailey continued.

"Look anywhere in professional sports in North America, and in nearly every case the most successful are those operated by a small group who have a profit motive."

Lions were incorporated under the Societies Act and are not taxed. Profits are earmarked for development of minor football in B.C. At present the only WIFU club privately owned is the Calgary Stampeders. In the East, Montreal, Hamilton and Toronto are privately controlled.

Twelve directors, including Bill Boling, former Winnipeg Blue Bomber general manager, and Neil Colville, former NHL star, were elected for two-year terms.

Don Sutton and Jack Knight were elected to one-year terms.

NHL LEADERS

NO STRINGS ON PURSE FOR WAYNE

VANCOUVER (CP) — President Harry Spring, of the British Columbia Lions, stated emphatically Wednesday night that newly appointed head coach Wayne Robinson has been given a free hand in running the Lions.

Robinson, 28, line coach at Winnipeg last season, was signed by the Lions early in December.

Spring, addressing the annual meeting of the football club said:

"Robinson now is on a scouting trip in the United States. Before he left Vancouver, I personally made it clear to him that he had an absolute free hand in the selecting and signing of assistant coaches and players and in the handling of the team.

Members lost little time in indicating their feelings. President Harry Spring's annual report, predicting better things for the future and denying charges of mismanagement, interference with the coaching staff and inefficiency, was given a vigorous ovation at its conclusion.

PHILLIES MAY CONSIDER BID FROM NEW JERSEY

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Mayor Richardson Dilworth said Wednesday Philadelphia Phillies had turned down a "fabulous" offer to transfer their National League baseball franchise to Minneapolis.

"Bob Carpenter (owner of the Phils) does not want to take the Phillies out of Philadelphia," Dilworth said, "but it is very likely he would be seriously interested in a proposition from New Jersey."

A syndicate reportedly is buying up a huge chunk of ground across the Delaware River just outside Camden, N.J. to lure the Phillies.

CURLERS' CORNER

Fuller Rink Sidetracked

By ERNIE FEDORUK

Curlers on the distaff side at Nanaimo have provided the first big surprise of Vancouver Island's rock-tossing season.

Marg Fuller, who skipped a Nanaimo rink to the Western Canada championship two years ago and to the B.C. title last season, has failed to survive the zone playoffs on this trip.

Although the Nanaimo playoffs won't be completed until Sunday, the Fuller rink can be discounted because of their 1-4, won-lost record in the double round-robin competition.

Three other rinks in the upper Island Eaton's playdowns, skipped by Helen Wilson, Doris Fiss and Minn Holm, all have 3-2 records. Only two will in the Island finals while Duncan, Alberni Valley and Nanaimo each send two representatives.

Still to be decided are winners in the Commercial and Afternoon Ladies' Leagues. Victoria and Brock Wilson and Don MacRae of Nanaimo, and Harry Stirzaker and Bill Osborne of the Alberni Valley Club.

The Island final will be played in Victoria Jan. 17 and 18. The eight zone champions, plus the four top rinks from the B.C. biennial, then move into the provincial final at Vernon.

A Victoria High School rink consisting of skip Jim Gallaher, third Les Brice, second Roger Pick and lead John Balloch, tackle winners of Alberni, Duncan and Nanaimo zones in the Island school final Saturday, at Nanaimo.

The boys' regional playdowns will be played in Victoria this year and will bring together the champions of the Island, Fraser Valley, Greater Vancouver and North Vancouver Foot-Ball Union.

The newest addition to the Island's curling fraternity, the $145,000 Comox Valley Club at Courtenay, is expected to hold official opening ceremonies later this month . . . the secretary, Harry Hunter, reports 43 rinks from Courtenay and another eight at Campbell River are formed and waiting for ice.

STRAY STADS: Nanaimo's big mixed 'spie, a three-day affair, starts January 23, and 32 rinks have already entered . . . the limit is 36 rinks. . . . Duncan's annual rockfest, which started today, could be the most successful ever.

KINGS ROAD LANDMARK MAKES WAY FOR SUB-STATION

He Traded Barn for Global Tour

It's not everyone who can convert an old barn into a trip around the world, but 71-year-old Herbert Vye has done it.

Vye, who has spent more than 50 years of his life farming an acre of land opposite his home at 1846 Kings, has sold the land and the barn stands on to B.C. Electric.

The company is planning to build a sub-station at the site.

ALL MUST GO

"And everything must go," the spry former farmer said Tuesday. "I've got 18 tons of hay for sale, along with a tractor, chaff-cutter, scales, and other equipment.

"Then, when I've got rid of everything, I'll be off on a trip around the world."

Mr. Vye says he "got a good price" for the acre from B.C. Electric, but just the same he is a little regretful that the barn, which his father built 70

... had enough farming."

And there's always that global tour to console him.

In nature, gamma rays are part of the radioactive decay going on in substances such as uranium. But mankind has turned at least one of these substances to work for him. Radium is one of the substances which forms during radioactive decay. And, the gamma rays from radium are used to treat the dread disease cancer.

"Are we embarking on another period like the 1930s?" he asked.

Douglas urged the federal government to "give immediate coverage to those who have exhausted their (unemployment) benefits," federal aid to municipalities, a public works program, recognition of Red China, with a view to establishing trade relations, and a planned immigration policy geared to the number of jobs available.

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy. Andy will answer questions submitted by children and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Kenneth Hutson, 15, Indianapolis, Ind., for his question:

Does the Eclipse

The eclipses of the sun and the moon run on a very strict schedule. This timetable is called a saros from an old Chaldean word meaning repetition. It was the Chaldeans who discovered the orderly schedule of the eclipses, long before the dawn of modern history.

These stargazers lived in ancient Mesopotamia, where the land is flat and the stars are bright in the desert sky. Star watching was part of their religion. They built tall towers from which they studied and recorded the heavenly parade as it went over the sky night by night, year by year and century by century.

It took these ancient star-gazers several thousand years to figure out the schedule of the saros. For though the saros repeats itself every 19 years, the series of eclipses is seen a little farther to the west with each parade and a little farther north or south with every third parade. The Chaldeans in their tall towers had to watch many parades, a section at a time, before they could figure out the saros.

The saros schedule is 19 years minus .46 of a day. Between the start of one saros and the start of the next, the earth rotates 6,585 1/2 turns on its axis. In a third of a day, any spot on earth travels 120 longitude degrees farther to the west.

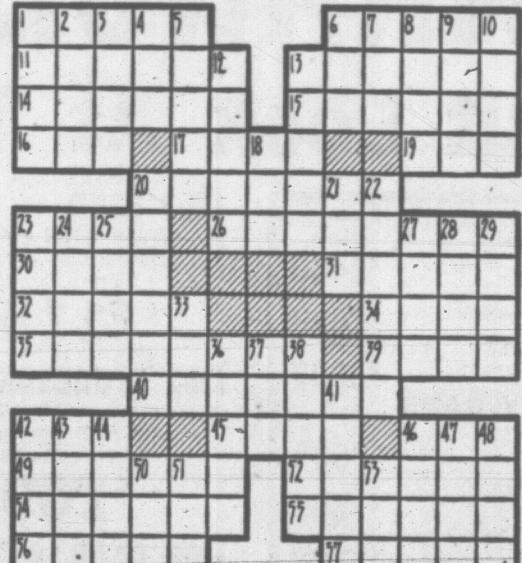

After the saros parade has passed three times, the eclipses return to almost the same longitudes. However, the sun and earth meantime have changed slightly in their relative positions. The new saros schedule, after three saroses or 54 years and one month, may repeat a little farther north or south.

Briggs 'Indicts' Bennett on 6 Counts

BY HAL MALONE

Premier W. A. C. Bennett interfered politically with the B.C. Power Commission in six different ways, H. Lee Briggs told the Shrum Royal Commission Wednesday.

The former general manager of the B.C. Power Commission said political interference has existed "and in telling places."

Mr. Briggs cited the premier for:

1. His directives in 1957 and 1958 that there be no replacements after staff departures;

2. His amendment to clause 48 of the Power Act, adding the clause which in addition to the Power Commission's continuous audit authorized the finance department to move in on commission affairs and report the findings to the Treasury Board;

3. His instructions to the

SEE ALSO PAGE 9

Power Commission to expand rural electrification "without attention to the circumstances";

4. His instruction to re-finance the bond issues of the government, issued during 1945-52, which were made in behalf of and assigned to the Power Commission;

5. His verbal instruction to the commissioners and to Mr. Briggs that the Power Commission was not to plan any further large power developments because in future its power was to be supplied to it, even on Vancouver Island, and;

6. His decision, in spite of the provisions of the Power Act, to overrule and to remove "forthwith" from the Commission its legal authority to amend (upwards) its rates.

Lack of Faith

Mr. Briggs contended that the premier's amendment to the Power Act, authorizing the comptroller-general to examine any or all of the financial and accounting operations showed a "lack of faith" in the Power Commission.

As far as he knew, Mr. Briggs said, no commissioner or any "of our officials was aware that such an amendment was to be advanced until it had received first reading in the House.

He said he heard commission chairman, T. H. Crosby, not only countenance the action but also command it when he spoke separately to the premier and Dr. J. V. Fisher, government economic adviser.

Mr. Briggs classified the amendment as a "distinct rebuff to the commissioners and the outside auditors—I don't think it can be interpreted any other way."

His statements on this matter came under heavy fire from William Anderson, one of three members of the Shrum Commission, with John Dunsuir and Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman.

"It seems to me you are developing a sensitive attitude to this point," said Mr. Anderson. "I think if I was in the position of guaranteeing some $175 millions in securities I would like a direct pipeline into the financial records."

Secret Audits

Mr. Briggs disagreed. He couldn't accept the fact that auditors should be allowed to come "into your firm without you knowing it."

"Why have two outside auditors come in? If he (the premier) wasn't satisfied, why not change auditors?" asked Mr. Dunsuir.

"Exactly," said Mr. Briggs. "It was a serious rebuff to the outside auditors." The auditors were Ismay, Boston, Dunn & Co. of Victoria.

Mr. Dunsuir wanted to know if there is any other government agency such as the PGE or Workmen's Compensation Board where auditing is apparently over-lapped.

"I am unable to answer that," said Mr. Briggs.

Mr. Briggs' calm, deliberate manner of giving evidence and answering questions broke twice during his day-long session on the witness stand.

Speaking on the over-lapping auditing, his voice rose noticeably when he said: "If the premier doesn't have confidence in the commissioners and the general manager he should fire them and get people he has confidence in."

He became agitated later when speaking of the manner in which the second outside audit was conducted.

"There was no question of honesty or of adequate and proper accounting... the outside auditors are most assiduous."

TELL ME LATER, SAYS SHRUM

Why Do Igloos Need Heat?

Two touches of humor crept into the normally austere and straightforward sessions of the Shrum Royal Commission Wednesday at the Empress Hotel.

H. Lee Briggs, former Power Commission general manager, explained that costs of electrification are quite high in rural areas such as Stewart Lake, north of Fort St. James.

"They must use electricity to heat igloos," said Dr. Gordon Shrum, chairman of the commission probing Power Commission operations.

ous... the auditors are expected to and should walk in at any moment, day or night, to examine the cash, securities, accounts and records.

Most Unfortunate

"The comptroller-general was told to move in. Since he was going east he delegated the assignment to the commission's outside auditors. The purpose was not to get normal audit information. It was to get a report on matters involving the judgments of the commission, the general manager, professional engineers, lawyers and accountants, planning activities of the commission and so on."

"They moved in without the common decency of explaining themselves to the commission or to management. No written statement of reference has ever been received. It took three days to get from them a verbal statement of their terms of reference."

Then, said Mr. Briggs, "I had a most unfortunate experience."

"I went to see the senior partner of the outside auditors to find out the score. When I came out the door of his office, he said he didn't wish to be seen going out the door with me."

Mr. Briggs said he was "shocked and startled."

"Dunn said that?" asked Mr. Anderson.

"Twice," said Mr. Briggs, holding up two fingers emphatically.

Death Knell'

During his 3½-hour testimony Mr. Briggs spoke twice of moves which indicated the "death knell" of the power commission.

Such matters as the Wenner-Gren commitments diverted the interest of government members away from thinking of the future of the commission and its customers, he claimed.

The formation of an independent agency for the development of the Columbia, hinted from a cabinet source, would assuredly spell the end of the power commission, he predicted.

Such a move would create two public power agencies and would inaugurate "years of uncertainty, political manoeuvring and compromise until one became decisively stronger and took over."

It had been explained to him, Mr. Briggs said, that a so-called joint development agency is in effect taken over by a strong private utility and controlled to serve its own financial purposes, almost with impunity.

Mr. Briggs said it is considered essential that the development of the Canadian Columbia be assigned to the power commission to obtain the most widespread distribution of benefits resulting from "Almost," said Mr. Briggs. "I could tell you a story but this is not the place."

"I'll see you later," quipped Dr. Shrum.

Earlier in the day, Mr. Briggs read from a copy of a memorandum dealing with a conversation between Power Commission chairman T. H. Crosby and Tom Ingledow, B.C. Electric vice-president.

"What are we trying to prove with this?" asked Dr. Shrum.

"I don't know," said Hugh McGivern, Briggs' counsel. "You ask for it."

participate in the supply of power to high density (low distribution cost) load areas.

If the Power Commission developed the Columbia, Mr. Briggs envisaged sale of power at a small profit "but at a price considerably below the cost of power it could produce."

Mr. Briggs said he told the premier in a report dated May 30, 1958, that rising operational costs called for increased rates, even without further extensions in service.

Black Day

The premier replied June 30, by letter, instructing no increase in rates, expansion of rural electrification without undue delay, sought a losses statement on rural electrification, asked the areas where extension was possible and for an estimate of the subsidies warranted and wanted an estimate of the commission's operating position at March 31, 1959.

"It was a black day, indeed," said Mr. Briggs.

"The average cost of electricity production through the province, if imposed upon certain customers, would drive away Vancouver Island industry to other sources of power by raising rates here; it would encourage undue consumption in the high production cost areas even more than in the past and thereby shoot the losses further upward; it would put the Power Commission under the Department of Finance in respect to project

5-Point Plan

Stimulus could be provided, he said:

1. Through the receipt of low interest rate long-term loans (as has been done extensively in the U.S. rural electrification projects);

2. Through the receipt of downstream power benefits from international rivers (and the use of them on the commission's system, plus bulk sales to other utilities);

3. By being granted developmental rights on large, favorably situated, low-cost hydro power sites to use in the commission's system and for bulk sale to other utilities;

4. By subsidization of the Power Commission on its high-cost electrification work; and;

5. By being permitted to par-

others since Dominion government officials wouldn't release them "to us."

"It would seem that it is not the case with certain other B.C. utilities; part of this information has actually been prepared by B.C. Engineering Company, a subsidiary of the B.C. Electric."

Mr. Briggs had a five-point program whereby the government could stimulate the power commission's twofold problem of the increasing cost of power and of extending electrification.

It was a black day, indeed," said Mr. Briggs.

"The average cost of electricity production through the province, if imposed upon certain customers, would drive away Vancouver Island industry to other sources of power by raising rates here; it would encourage undue consumption in the high production cost areas even more than in the past and thereby shoot the losses further upward; it would put the Power Commission under the Department of Finance in respect to project

Girl Loses Leg Fleeing Hungry

EINSTADT, Austria (AP)—An exploding mine blew off the right leg of a Hungarian girl fleeing to Austria with her parents and younger sister, police said Wednesday. Klara Sarkany, 18, was taken to a hospital when the refugee family reached Austria. Her father had crept ahead to cut barbed-wire entanglements.

Klara was the last to come through.

Ferry Seizure 'Backdown' Hit

B.C. Federation of Labor Wednesday was charged with "giving up too easily" on its plan to take Premier Bennett to court for using the Civil Defence Act to take over the strike-threatened Black Ball Ferries last summer.

ALVIN HAMILTON
... "no change"

Crowsnest Rail Rates To Remain

REGINA (CP) — Northern Affairs Minister Hamilton assured the annual meeting of Regina Progressive Conservatives Wednesday night the Crowsnest Pass freight rates on grain will not be changed.

When in opposition, Conservatives protested arbitrary freight rate increases on goods where there is no hauling competition, Mr. Hamilton said. However, they had been forced to grant a 17-per-cent increase last fall.

But he indicated any further freight increase will be borne by the entire nation.

As for the Crowsnest Pass rates, they had been agreed on by the railways in return for cash and land, and would not be changed.

CRUSADER IN ACTION

Land Conservation Pleaded by Visitor

A retired professor of field husbandry, now chairman of a world commission on soil and water conservation, Dr. O. M. McConkey, of Fergus, Ontario, met British Columbia government officials this week in a crusade for a national land-use conservation act.

Dr. McConkey, an international authority on conservation, served two years in China with UNRRA and the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization.

Following his retirement from the faculty of Ontario Agricultural College, he has travelled extensively. The organization he chairs has membership on six continents and in 40 countries. The doctor, who has degrees from Oxford, Cambridge and University of Illinois between trips, grows registered seed on his farm at Fergus.

ACTION NEEDED NOW

He came to British Columbia to confer with Agriculture Minister Newton P. Steacy and deputy conservation minister

Delegates to the Victoria Labor Council made it plain that the "seizure" issue is far from over.

Dennis Heinekey, for the B.C. Government Employees Association, said he was not satisfied with the federation's acceptance of the idea that the take-over could not be contested in the courts so long as the seizure was not still in force.

"Do we have to sit down and wait until he (the premier) uses the act again before we can challenge him? The intent is still there. For the federation to accept that it cannot fight the take-over seems to mean it has given up."

"I am not satisfied with that answer. This thing should be pursued."

Federation second vice-president Victor Midgley said that the federation was taking the advice of its lawyers in dropping the action against the premier.

"If we are not going to follow the advice of high-priced legal talent, there is no point in hiring them," he said. "It would be a very costly thing in the thousands and thousands of dollars — to go to court."

Woodworkers' delegate Jack MacKenzie noted that the premier and attorney general "made us understand the action was not taken against a union but against individuals, so the federation could not step in."

Canadian Labor Congress Vancouver Island representative Bill Guld said federation former secretary George Horne did a good job of presenting the recent annual brief.

He said the federation at its meeting with the premier "dispelled most of the thinking of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for a restrictive legislation."

VICTORIA MAN FINED FOR SMUGGLING

Navy Probes Thefts in East

HALIFAX (CP) — Investigations into disappearances of money and supplies from ships and establishments of the Navy's Atlantic Command continued Wednesday. The inquiries are the most extensive since 1955.

Two petty officers were convicted of stealing nearly $2,000 navy courts-martial on theft charges. All but one petty officer were convicted and given jail terms.

The navy said Wednesday the cases were unconnected. "They are all absolutely separate," a spokesman said.

The RCMP is still investigating alleged misappropriations of an undisclosed amount of equipment from the navy's big fleet reserve base near Sydney.

Sydney.

A navy spokesman said the latest investigation aboard the frigate Outremont involved a quantity of liquor which vanished from the ship.

An RCMP official later said Lieutenant H. J. Stuart of Victoria, supply officer aboard the Outremont, appeared Tuesday before a civilian judge on a smuggling charge involving liquor. He was fined $100.

A seaman from the Outremont is being held "in naval protective custody" pending completion of the frigate inquiry, being conducted by the RCMP and Halifax city police.

Four of seven frigates based here sailed for exercises Wednesday. The Outremont remained in port. Two others are in refit.

... HERE
AND THERE ...

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Even in a country which speaks their own language, British immigrants often have a tough time explaining their wants.

For instance, Ron Sutherland called in a Victoria store the other day and asked for drawing pins.

This threw the sales staff into utter confusion until it dawned on them that the English drawing pin is the equivalent of the Canadian thumb tack.

Other English terms which need translation in Canada are saloon car (for sedan), bonnet (for hood), cinema (for movie theatre), wireless (for radio), geyser (for hot water tank).

But we're learning fast... *

I hear that the London Press Club (famed for its celebrity dinners) is contemplating a British Columbia Night in honor of our new Agent General Bert Hoffmeister who took over from Bill McAdam last October.

If, as is rumored, British Columbia House contributes "a few maps and totem poles" to the occasion, it should be a whale of a night. *

A reader asks whether Charlie Chaplin's controversial comedy drama "A King in New York" is to be shown in Victoria.

The movie is now in its third week at a Vancouver theatre and Victoria movie managers tell me they expect it will be shown here soon.

This latest Chaplin had a mixed reception in Britain last year. Some critics felt that the comedy element was overshadowed by vindictive satire aimed at the United States—which Charlie quit in 1953.

Children's interpretations of the songs they sing often provide merriment—for adults.

Jim Turney tells me one of his Sunday School students, a six-year-old boy, asked him the meaning of a hymn called "Rings in the Sea."

This turned out to be a juvenile translation of "Bring in the Sheaves."

Another boy wrote this version of the Lord's Prayer: "Our Father chartin' Heaven, Harold B. Thy Name."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Burglars took between $15 and $18 cash and two wrist watches from Oak Bay Jeweler, 2225 Oak Bay, in a break-in which took place shortly after closing time Wednesday.

Police said retail value of the watches was about $75 each.

The store was forced open by way of a rear door.

Thieves with an electronic bug have taken about $200 worth of goods from two city TV-hi-fi shops in the last two weeks.

McMillan & Wardell TV, 2730 Quadra, told police two folded TV antennae were stolen overnight Tuesday from the rear of the shop and one other antenna was taken from the same place during the Christmas-New Year's holiday.

Total value was estimated at $130.

Also during the holidays a $70 hi-fi preamplifier component was stolen from Harmony House, 912 Douglas, H. E. Stubbings told police Wednesday.

ANONYMOUS CITY WOMAN DONOR

$5,000 'Windfall' Boosts Kiwanis Village Campaign

A Victoria woman who wishes to remain anonymous has donated $5,000 to the Kiwanis Village.

Village Society President Fred Harris said that she had "been following the progress of the village" with great interest.

She donated $2,000 to the Village only four years ago. Mr. Harris said also that other donations were still coming in and they "were greatly encouraged by the continuance of support by the citizens of Victoria."

Donations are the result of a one hour "blitz" campaign by the Society Dec. 2 to raise $100,000.

DEAR ABBY . . .

She Has a Point!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The new dress in a point—and neither does styles are bad enough, but at my head! ROUND TOES.

DEAR ABBY: The man in pointed shoes? I went from the shoe store to shoe store trying to buy a pair of shoes but I was told all they had were the new pointed shoes. So I went home and had my old shoes re-heeled and re-soled and I am going to keep right on having them re-heeled and re-soled until I can buy some shoes that fit me. My toes do not grow

ALL FEET.

DEAR ALL: Send me a postcard and join Abby's W. W. F. S. Anonymous. This club (Won't Wear Freakish Styles) already has thousands of members (men, too) who protest the new styles and refuse to wear or buy them. Try the suggestion offered by "Round Toes" above.

DEAR ABBY: I am a member of your W.W.F.S. Anonymous (Won't Wear Freakish Styles) and I went shopping because I wanted a new dress for my sister's wedding. They told me the Sack dresses were out, but they had something new which was very feminine, flattering and lovely. I was shown the Empire style which is a nightgown tied under the armpits with a string. Is this their idea of something lovely? It's worse than the sack.

STILL LOOKING.

DEAR ABBY: What are you trying to do? Ruin the ladies' dress business? Your W.W.F.S. Club encourages women to stop buying and that is very bad for the nation's business. I own a ladies' dress shop and I have to sell what the manufacturers give me. They have to manufacture what the dress designers give them. Women are very susceptible to suggestion and when millions of women get together and quit buying, a major depression could result. Please reconsider and put a stop to this club.

RETAILER.

DEAR RETAILER: If you saw the thousands of letters I've received from women who say they haven't had a dress in two years because they say they couldn't find anything "decent", you'd realize that I am trying to help you—not hurt you. I DO know that the sooner you get those beautiful, flattering feminine styles back into your store, they'll sell like hot cakes. I don't know whose idea it was to sabotage us women, but I hope you'll take this to your leader.

Our new 1959 Alice Brooks Needcraft Catalogue has many lovely designs to order: crocheting, knitting, embroidery, quilts, dolls, weaving. A special gift in the catalogue to keep a child happily occupied—a cutout doll and clothes to color. Send 25 cents for your copy of the book.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Not the Dress, It's You—
Better Start Marathon Now.

Most women must watch their weight from middle age on, even though this may not have been a problem during younger years.

I have to watch the pounds with an eagle eye or they slip up on me. Sometimes I feel downright rebellious when I put on a dress I haven't worn for a couple of weeks and have trouble closing the zipper and find the seams under tension!

My first inclination is to blame it on the dry cleaner or the glands I inherited. However, I must admit that in most instances the scales reveal a gain of around five pounds. Even five pounds can make a big difference in the way you feel and look.

As you know I am now offering you my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon as I do each January. Tens of thousands of women join each year to see how much they can improve themselves in this period of time.

Eight weeks is not long but these next eight weeks can be the most important ones in your life. At the end of Marathon you can literally look ten years younger. You can lose bulges, overweight (as much as 20 pounds), and greatly improve your posture, complexion and hair.

I feel sure that we women live up to the picture we have of ourselves. If we are aware of defects in physical attractiveness, this is apt to be reflected in personality. Many times in my classes I have seen the metamorphosis from overweight to a slender figure, from fatigue to energy, from self-consciousness to self-confidence. It is conceivable that the changes you can make in

"FULL DRESS":

Does "Full Dress" usually mean costume party? If not, what does it mean?

Louise Davis answers:

"Full Dress" means ultra formal evening attire for men (white tie and tails). Anyone giving a costume party would clearly indicate it on the invitations. "Full Dress" couldn't possibly imply costume.

DEAR ABBY: I am a member of your W.W.F.S. Anonymous (Won't Wear Freakish Styles) and I went shopping because I wanted a new dress for my sister's wedding. They told me the Sack dresses were out, but they had something new which was very feminine, flattering and lovely. I was shown the Empire style which is a nightgown tied under the armpits with a string. Is this their idea of something lovely? It's worse than the sack.

CONGRESSIONAL NEWCOMERS

Jessica Weis (R-N.Y.), Sen. Edmund S. Muskie (D-Maine), Rep. Catherine May (R-Wash.) and Rep. Edna Simpson (R-Ill.). The addition of the three new Congresswomen brings the total to a new high of 17 feminine lawmakers. (AP Wirephoto.)

Queen's Photographs Named 'Mammoth Job' by Canadian

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Shortly before the Royal visit to Canada next summer for the opening of the St. Lawrence Seaway, official photographs of Her Majesty the Queen and the Duke of Edinburgh, will be released.

These pictures have already been taken by a 37-year-old Toronto photographer, Donald McKague.

Commissioned by the Canadian government, he flew to London in December for what he describes as the most gruelling week of his career.

Schedule of Royal engagements, always tightly packed, allowed him 90 minutes for the actual photography.

He did, however, have three days before the sitting, to explore the palace for likely backgrounds, to get used to unfamiliar equipment and to cope with the various lighting requirements of his black-and-white and color cameras.

Afterwards, there were three more days of frantic activity, processing the numerous pictures to be submitted for royal approval.

Books Exchanged Over Border

An adventure in friendship that I heard of recently has to do with two cookbooks.

It seems that when Mrs. L. Cumming (internationally known Betty Crocker, of good food fame) spoke at Women's Canadian Club in Victoria late last year, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, the club's honorary vice-president, was in the audience.

Later, at the tea hour, she and Betty Crocker had an interesting talk that included an exchange of ideas—for Mrs. Bennett is also noted for her excellent cooking.

Result—Mrs. Bennett received, a few days later, an autographed copy of the Betty Crocker Cookbook as a memento of a pleasant get-together.

Mrs. Bennett was so pleased with the gift she immediately thought of a way to reciprocate.

She telephoned the office of the British Columbia Women's Institute in the Parliament Buildings and had a copy of

State of Ballet Disappoints; 'Must Be Nursed'

WINNIPEG (CP)—Canadian ballet is advancing but it is still a babe in arms that has to be "cuddled and nursed along," says Nenad Lhotka, ballet master of the Royal Winnipeg Ballet.

The native of Zagreb, Yugoslavia, said in a recent interview he was "a little disappointed" with the state of the Canadian dance when he arrived to take his present post in 1955.

However, he admitted his opinion had been colored by experience in Europe, where ballet is a "living, healthy art that is centuries old."

Mutual Interests

LUTON, England (CP)—A husband and wife have been appointed principals in two secondary schools in this Bedfordshire town. They are Roy Whitaker and his wife Margaret.

Winter Courses Start at YWCA

Winter months will find the Victoria YWCA a busy place with several new courses for the women starting this month and continuing through to the spring.

The Victoria Women's Forum will begin for the discussion of subjects of topical interest. Another will take in the arts crafts and is titled the Distwood Craft Class. The course to be continued from the fall art "Away for a Day" for housewives and mothers: keep fit classes and charm and fashion.

There will also be square dancing for children up to 12 years.

Bride Wears Grandmother's Heirloom Cameo Brooch

Miss Judith Elaine Hume's "something old" at her wedding recently was an heirloom cameo brooch which had belonged to her grandmother.

The wedding took place in St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, with Rev. H. J. Jones officiating.

Bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hague, 2255 Harlow Drive, and the groom is Eric Hofmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Hofmann, 2561 Sinclair Road.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father. Her lovely full-length wedding gown of peau-de-soie was styled with a Basque neckline and illy point sleeves. Her lace-trimmed net veil cascaded from a sequin headpiece. The bridal bouquet was red roses and white hyacinths.

Red velvet was cut on princess lines for the attendants' gowns. Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. R. Norton, and the groom's sister, Miss Nell Hofmann, make their home in Vancouver.

At the reception in the home of the bride's parents, William Cross proposed the toast to the bride.

The honeymoon is being spent at a ski resort in the interior. The bride chose as her travelling costume a two-piece suit of teal blue with beige accessories. Her corset was of Joanne Hill roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Hofmann will make their home in Vancouver.

By some airline standards that's modest.

Lady Douglas of Kirtleside, 39-year-old wife of the BEA chairman and a former fashion model, told her husband the girls' mid-calf skirts are too long.

"They look grotesque," she said. "They make me wince."

The grey-uniformed girls were told to hike their skirts at least three inches so they are "one to three inches below the knee."

FATHER, 5 TOTS DIE

BRANDON, Minn. (AP) — A father and his five children died Wednesday in a fire that swept their two-storey home.

Mark Kelly, 38, got out of the house after the fire began but lost his life when he sought to rescue his children.

The victims were Kelly, 38, three sons, Jim, 16, Dennis, 12, and Pat, 14, and two daughters, Mary Lee, 10, and Peggy, 3.

Mrs. Kelly fled the burning house with her husband and tried to go back in for the children, along with her husband. Neighbors restrained her.

The father's body was found at the foot of the stairs, where he apparently collapsed while trying to reach the baby.

I'm No Saint Says Pat Boone

NEW YORK (AP) — Singer Pat Boone says he was a teen-aged shoplifter and a beer and cigarette addict at an early age.

In an interview Wednesday with columnist Earl Wilson in the New York Post, Boone discussed the weaknesses he first disclosed in his new book, Twixt Twelve and Twenty.

"I don't want to be thought of as a saint, which I'm not," the 24-year-old Boone said. He has been exemplified in publicity as a clean-living, non-drinking antidote to juvenile delinquency.

However, he told Wilson: "I was about 16 when four or five of us guys did our shoplifting. Each of us took a downtown store in Nashville at Christmas time. It was a game-like defense. We did it for excitement, but we did it.

"We took little items. Cigarettes, socks, pants, shirts, sweaters, things like that. Our folks could have afforded to pay for them."

Boone said he neither smokes nor drinks now.

ON GUARD

Who's Got 'O Canada' In Tune?

A special Junior Chamber of Commerce committee will investigate correct wording of the "O Canada" chorus following use of varying versions at different functions.

Decision was reached at a Wednesday meeting.

Jaycee president Ray Rawnsley said "I went to school in Victoria and I was taught a different version to the words we use in the Jaycees. Definitely we will take steps to approach the schools if we find they are wrong."

Common version is the one we use in the Jaycees:
O Canada, glorious and free,
We stand on guard, we stand
on guard

For thee,
O Canada we stand on guard
for thee.

Alternative in use is
O Canada, glorious and free,
O Canada we stand on guard

CHAPLIN PAYS HUGE TAX BILL

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Charlie Chaplin's son said today the self-exiled comedian may be paving the way for his return to the United States with his payment of $425,000 in back taxes.

"He might be thinking of returning," said Chaplin's actor son, Charlie Jr., 33.

The internal revenue service announced in Washington last Dec. 29 that Chaplin, now living in Switzerland, had settled out of court a five-year hassle in which the U.S. claimed he owed $700,000 in taxes.

LONGER SEASON

Sidney Ferry Boost Pledged

A "substantial increase" in the passenger-carrying capacity of the Sidney-Anacortes ferry with a longer travelling season was announced Wednesday night by C. E. Blaney of Blaney's Travel Service, Victoria agent for Washington State Ferries.

Mr. Blaney made the announcement during discussion of plans for lengthening Victoria's tourist season at a meeting of Victoria Chamber of Commerce tourist trade group.

He did not amplify the statement but said he could give an assurance that the ferry would increase its passenger capacity and extend its travelling season.

This assurance was greeted with resounding applause by group members.

TREMENDOUS BUSINESS

Earlier, Ken Lowndes had urged an extension of sailings between Victoria and Port Angeles from Sept. 15 to the end of October.

"We are losing tremendous business by closing off these sailings so early," he said.

Mr. Blaney said that it was not possible for Washington State Ferries to extend sailings of the Kalakala after the middle of September.

Mr. Lowndes: "Then the only alternative is to ask the Canadian Pacific to extend its sailings to Port Angeles."

"Is there anyone here who can speak for the CPR ferries?" asked Sam Lane, group chairman.

No one spoke.

MORE 'DAYLIGHT'

Mr. Lowndes urged that the government be asked to extend daylight saving time in B.C. to the last Sunday in October in order to attract more tourists.

He also proposed that the chamber's retail merchants group should work out plans for a British Shopping Week in October in conjunction with the Antique Dealers' Association.

"I have spoken with a representative of the Antique Dealers' Association who told me he was willing to discuss this matter with the retail merchants group," Mr. Lowndes said.

The tourist trade group gave its support to a further suggestion that Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau write to leading travel agencies advising them of reduced rates after Sept. 15.

Unions Want Arrow

Industry 'Ruin' Warning Issued

OTTAWA (UPI) — Representatives of 35,000 Canadian aircraft workers bluntly told the federal government today that it must order the controversial CF-105 Avro Arrow fighter plane into "substantial" production or face a hasty deterioration of the country's aircraft industry.

In a 32-page brief to several cabinet ministers, representatives of the aircraft industry's two major unions poured criticism on the government—both present Conservative and former Liberal—for its aviation policy.

But it emphasized the Arrow. The entire future of the industry was "hanging in the balance" on the government's decision on its production, they said.

The government has as yet made no final decision on the supersonic-speed jet interceptor.

In a Sept. 23 announcement Prime Minister Diefenbaker put off a decision until March and at the same time announced that Canada would purchase the U.S.-produced Bomarc ground-to-air missile.

The government must produce the CF-105, the workers' brief said. A decision to substitute the Bomarc would finish the home industry and deal a severe blow to the overall Canadian economy, it argued.

In Cleveland Wednesday Mikoyan was greeted by cheering, shouting, sign-waving demonstrators. One young woman, identified as a Hungarian refugee, was arrested for throwing a rock in the general direction of the Russian party.

CUBAN LEADER MAKES PLEDGE

Fingers placed in form of cross, Cuban rebel leader Fidel Castro, swears to be true to his people during address before huge crowd at Santa Clara

(See Page 3)

HAVANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro, who led the rebel forces which overthrew the regime of dictator Fulgencio Batista, entered the city of Havana to a heroes' welcome today.

The bearded, 32-year-old Castro reached the capital at the head of an armored column of his men following a triumphant trip through the heart of the island from Oriente province in the east.

Everywhere he stopped, Castro was mobbed by the populace.

Castro stood in a jeep flanked by four bodyguards as he entered Havana.

His jeep was preceded by eight to 10 tanks and armored cars.

21-GUN SALUTE

Guns from Cabana fortress thundered a 21-gun salute to the hero of the revolution. Vessels in Havana Bay broke out their holiday bunting. Warplanes roared overhead.

Warships in the bay began firing their salutes at 3 p.m. Church bells pealed a welcome.

The city was in turmoil with a wild mixture of honking horns, shouts of "Viva," and cheers for Castro.

All business was at a virtual standstill, with employees turned loose to cheer Castro, the man who ousted Batista and proclaimed Dr. Manuel Urrutia provisional president just as they had been seen until free elections can be held inside of two years.

The red and black colors of Castro's 26th of July revolutionary movement were to be seen everywhere in Havana, to the Dominican Republic.

Castro, who had been seen along his route from Santiago to the capital.

The arrival here was the climax of the wild events that began Jan. 1 when Batista fled to the Dominican Republic.

Visiting Swedish Ship Does Good Deed for Day

BY MONTE ROBERTS

The first ship of the Royal Swedish Navy to visit Canada's Pacific Coast, arrived at Esquimalt one hour behind the minelayer-training ship schedule today delayed by a "clean-up" job in Juan de Fuca Strait.

Inbound from San Francisco,

the minelayer-training ship

... HERE
AND THERE ...
With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Even in a country which speaks their own language, British immigrants often have a tough time explaining their wants.

For instance, Ron Sutherland called in a Victoria store the other day and asked for drawing pins.

This threw the sales staff into utter confusion until it dawned on them that the English drawing pin is the equivalent of the Canadian thumb tack.

Other English terms which need translation in Canada are saloon car (for sedan), bonnet (for hood), cinema (for movie theatre), wireless (for radio), geyser (for hot water tank).

But we're learning fast ...

I hear that the London Press Club (famed for its celebrity dinners) is contemplating a British Columbia Night in honor of our new Agent General Bert Hoffmeister who took over from Bill McAdam last October.

If, as is rumored, British Columbia House contributes "a few maps and totem poles" to the occasion, it should be a whale of a night.

A reader asks whether Charlie Chaplin's controversial comedy-drama "A King in New York" is to be shown in Victoria.

The movie is now in its third week at a Vancouver theatre and Victoria movie managers tell me they expect it will be shown here soon.

This latest Chaplin had a mixed reception in Britain last year. Some critics felt that the comedy element was overshadowed by vindictive satire aimed at the United States—which Charlie quit in 1953.

Children's interpretations of the songs they sing often provide merriment for adults.

Jim Turney tells me one of his Sunday School students, a six-year-old boy, asked him the meaning of a hymn called "Ringings in the Sea."

This turned out to be a juvenile translation of "Bring me my sheaves."

Another boy wrote this version of the Lord's Prayer: "Our Father charin' Heaven, Harold B. Thy Name."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Burglars took between $15 and $18 cash and two wrist watches from Oak Bay Jeweler, 2225 Oak Bay, in a break-in which took place shortly after closing time Wednesday.

Police said retail value of the watches was about $15 each.

The store was forced open by way of a rear door.

Thieves with an electronics bug have taken about $200 worth of goods from two city TV-hi-fi shops in the last two weeks.

McMillan & Wardell TV, 2730 Quadra, told police two folded TV antennae were stolen overnight Tuesday from the rear of the shop and one other antenna was taken from the same place during the Christmas-New Year's holiday.

Total value was estimated at $130.

Also during the holidays a $70 hi-fi preamplifier component was stolen from Harmony House, 912 Douglas, H. E. Stubbs told police Wednesday.

ANONYMOUS CITY WOMAN DONOR

$5,000 'Windfall' Boosts Kiwanis Village Campaign

A Victoria woman who wishes to remain anonymous has donated $5,000 to the Kiwanis Village campaign.

Village Society president Reg Harris said that she had "been following the progress of the village" with great interest.

She donated $2,000 to the Village only four years ago.

Mr. Harris said that she had "been greatly encouraged by the continuance of support by the citizens of Victoria."

Donations are the result of a one hour "blitz" campaign by the Society Dec. 2 to raise $100,000.

Police Magistrate Henry C. Hall, who is due to retire next month, was admitted to Jubilee Hospital after he became ill prior to city police court sitting today.

Clerk of the court William Ostler, also a qualified magistrate, filled both positions at the bench.

Mr. Hall, who lives alone, went to hospital for examination and observation.

He was due to retire on his 75th birthday last November, but was given a three-month extension.

Head of the University of B.C. Real Estate Educational Department, Professor Philip White, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria Jan. 14, at the Empress Hotel.

Professor White is a graduate of the University of London and will discuss all phases of real estate including buying, selling and property management.

Greater Victoria school teachers have been invited by the Art Gallery to make arrangements by phone for special visits of their classes to the Old Masters show now on display. The classes will be given conducted tours of the half-million-dollar Hammer collection, which includes Rembrandt, Frans Hals, Tintoretto, Veronese, Tintoretto, and other famous names. A gallery official will explain the paintings to the children. The show is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and is open to the public free of charge until January 31.

City Man Snubbed for Color May Seek 'Freedom' in U.S.

A 27-year-old Chinese-Canadian who was born in Victoria and has spent all his life here said today he was considering moving to the U.S. because of racial discrimination he has experienced.

Grant King, 1666 McRae, said he was barred from two private city clubs because of his race.

He also said that in late December he was told to "get out of here" when he presented a traffic accident report at Victoria city police charge office.

King, one of the Pacific Northwest's best-known racing car builders, said he was refused entry to the Eagles' Club on Christmas Eve and to the Tillicum Athletic Club six days later.

Get Chinaman Out'

He said the "worst experience" was at the Tillicum where he said he overheard the doorman telling a friend with King to "get that Chinaman out of here."

Tillicum doorman, Fearon Woodburn, former city detective, said later he didn't remember "saying anything like that," but he defended his stand against admitting King.

"You have to give the members a little protection. They want to be able to sit down and have a drink without a Hindu or someone sitting next to them."

This is a nice clean place and there's never any trouble. That's the way we want to keep it."

Mr. Woodburn said most city clubs confine membership and guests to whites over 21.

King said he and his member-friend did manage to get into the Eagles' Club but after one drink were asked to leave.

Capt. Norstrom's ship, a 16-year-old vessel which carries 700 mines in wartime, is here in the course of a five-month cruise from Stockholm, through the Panama Canal, and up the Pacific Coast.

Purpose of the cruise is training for 57 officer cadets who have chosen navy careers.

Capt. Norstrom said the Swedish navy is on a 36-hour recall basis. "Our purpose is defence, of course," he said. "We have remained neutral through two wars; we hope to remain neutral if there is a third."

IN CASE OF WAR

He said that policy was to keep navy ships dispersed in widely-separated ports in case of war's outbreak.

The Swedish navy has 20 destroyers, three-light cruisers and 20 submarines, plus auxiliary craft.

Alvsbaden will be here Saturday, visiting Vancouver before turning toward home.

WHAT IS CANADIAN?

"Is it against the law to bar people in such a way?" the young Chinese asked. "What color is a Canadian, anyway? What are we fighting for?"

Commenting on Woodburn's remarks, King said it was wrong for the doorman to "insinuate" Chinese were troublemakers.

It is located in the southern section of the old Lansdowne airfield off Richmond Road, between Newmarket and Townley Roads.

It covers 8.2 acres. Purchase price and cost of the proposed over-all development were not disclosed.

Name of the company here, registered at the provincial companies office Dec. 16, is Cemp-Saanich Shopping Plaza Limited.

The company has been registered with a capitalization of $9,000 in preferential shares, plus 1,000 common shares without par value.

The sites purchased by the Montreal firm had been held by Principal Investments Ltd. and Loblaw Groceria Co. Ltd., both of Toronto.

Land area involved in the total deal was about 14,000,000 square feet.

ACROSS CANADA

Twelve of these sites are in Ontario cities, one in Regina, one in Saint John, N.B., and one in Montreal.

Cemp Investments Ltd. is an organization created by Samuel Bronfman, Montreal distiller and industrialist.

The name CEMP was derived from the first names of his four children. The firm was founded eight years ago.

This is the second currently mooted shopping centre development for Saanich. Representatives of Dominion Construction Co. "You don't see the jails full of Chinese, do you?" There are good and bad in all races. I am not condemning the white people but it is the white people who get drunk and go into Chinatown and raise hell.

"They get rowdy and want to fight. Why don't they get rowdy on Yates Street? The reason is they think they can get away with it in Chinatown and can push the Chinese around."

Better Outlook In U.S.

King said there was less discrimination against Chinese in the U.S. and was considering several offers of work south of the border. "There is a better outlook for us there," he added.

King said he similarly was barred from the Tillicum Club "a few years ago."

And on Dec. 28 last, he said he went to Victoria police charge office to present a traffic accident report form following a car mishap involving his wife.

'Get Out of Here'

"The sergeant said 'Get out of here, get out.' I told him why I was there and he replied, 'I don't care. Get out of here.'

King's 27-year-old Calgary-born wife Theima, a white, said today she felt as badly about the Tillicum incident as did her husband.

"We don't like it," she said. "It's very wrong."

Tillicum secretary Fred Richardson today declined comment on the incident, except to ask, "They have lots of clubs in Chinatown, haven't they?"

The incident was Victoria's third complaint of racial discrimination in just over a month.

WHITE WIFE of Victoria Chinese-Canadian Grant King, 1666 McRae, said today she was as disturbed as her husband about alleged discrimination against him by two city clubs.—(Times photo by Strickland.)

Big Shopping Centre Set for Lansdowne

Eight-Acre Site In Eastern Hands

A recently organized branch of a Montreal investment company will develop a large shopping centre in Saanich, it was learned here today.

... HERE

AND THERE . . .

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

Even in a country which speaks their own language, British immigrants often have a tough time explaining their wants.

For instance, Ron Sutherland called in a Victoria store the other day and asked for drawing pins.

This threw the sales staff into utter confusion until it dawned on them that the English drawing pin is the equivalent of the Canadian thumb tack.

Other English terms which need translation in Canada are saloon car (for sedan), bonnet (for hood), cinema (for movie theatre), wireless (for radio), geyser (for hot water tank).

But we're learning fast . . .

I hear that the London Press Club (famed for its celebrity dinners) is contemplating a British Columbia Night in honor of our new Agent General Bert Hoffmeister who took over from Bill McAdam last October.

If, as is rumored, British Columbia House contributes "a few maps and totem poles" to the occasion, it should be a whale of a night.

A reader asks whether Charlie Chaplin's controversial comedy drama "A King in New York" is to be shown in Victoria.

The movie is now in its third week at a Vancouver theatre and Victoria movie managers tell me they expect it will be shown here soon.

This latest Chaplin had a mixed reception in Britain last year. Some critics felt that the comedy element was overshadowed by vindictive satire aimed at the United States—which Charlie quit in 1953.

Children's interpretations of the songs they sing often provide merriment—for adults.

Jim Turney tells me one of his Sunday School students, a six-year-old boy, asked him the meaning of a hymn called "Ringings in the Sea."

This turned out to be a juvenile translation of "Bring in the Sheaves."

Another boy wrote this version of the Lord's Prayer: "Our Father chartin' Heaven; Harold B. Thy Name."

TOPICS OF THE DAY

Burglars took between $15 and $18 cash and two wrist watches from Oak Bay Jeweler, 2225 Oak Bay, in a break-in which took place shortly after closing time Wednesday.

Police said retail value of the watches was about $75 each.

The store was forced open by way of a rear door.

Thieves with an electronics bug have taken about $200 worth of goods from two city TV-hi-fi shops in the last two weeks.

McMillan & Wardell TV, 2730 Quadra, told police two folded TV antennae were stolen overnight Tuesday from the rear of the shop and one other antenna was taken from the same place during the Christmas-New Year's holiday.

Total value was estimated at $130.

Also during the holidays a $70 hi-fi preamplifier component was stolen from Harmony House, 912 Douglas, H. E. Stubbings told police Wednesday.

Head of the University of B.C. Real Estate Educational Department, Professor Philip White, will be guest speaker at a luncheon meeting of the Real Estate Board of Victoria Jan. 14 at the Empress Hotel.

Professor White is a graduate of the University of London and will discuss all phases of real-estate including buying, selling and property management.

Greater Victoria school teachers have been invited by the Art Gallery to make arrangements by phone for special visits of their classes to the Old Masters show now on display. The classes will be given conducted tours of the half-million-dollar Hammer collection, which includes Rembrandt, Frans Hals, Tintoretto, Veronese, Terborch and other famous names. A Gallery official will explain the paintings to the children.

The show is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association and is open to the public free of charge until January 31.

A Victoria woman who wishes to remain anonymous has donated $5,000 to the Kiwanis Village.

Village Society president Reg Harris said that she has "been following the progress of the village" with great interest.

She donated $2,000 to the Village only four years ago.

Mr. Harris said also that other donations were still coming in and they "were greatly encouraged by the continued support by the citizens of Victoria."

Donations are the result of a one hour "billet" campaign by the Society Dec. 2 to raise $100,000.

City Man Snubbed for Color May Seek 'Freedom' in U.S.

A 27-year-old Chinese-Canadian who was born in Victoria and has spent all his life here said today he was considering moving to the U.S. because of racial discrimination he has experienced.

Grant King, 1666 McRae, said he was barred from two private city clubs because of his race.

He also said that in late December he was told to "get out of here" when he presented a traffic accident report at Victoria city police charge office.

King, one of the Pacific Northwest's best-known racing car builders, said he was refused entry to the Eagles' Club on Christmas Eve and to the Tillicum Athletic Club six days later.

'Get Chinaman Out'

He said the "worst experience" was at the Tillicum where he said he overheard the doorman telling a friend with King to "get that Chinaman out of here."

Tillicum doorman, Fearn Woodburn, former city detective, said later he didn't remember "saying anything like that," but he defended his stand against admitting King.

"You have to give the members a little protection. They want to be able to sit down and have a drink without a Hindu or someone sitting next to them."

Mr. Woodburn said most city clubs confine membership and guests to whites over 21.

Despite heavy seas, the Swedish training ship took the navigation menace in tow, kept it under control until a guard cutter and USN minesweeper relieved her of the burden.

WOULD BE ANGRY

Said Capt. Carl G. Norstrom, commanding officer of the 4,200-ton, 318-foot ship: "We had great anxiety that our hosts of the RCN would be angry at the delay."

Capt. Norstrom's ship, a 16-year-old vessel which carries 700 mines in wartime, is here in the course of a five-month cruise from Stockholm, through the Panama Canal, and up the Pacific Coast.

Purpose of the cruise is, training for 57 officer cadets who have chosen navy careers.

Capt. Norstrom said the Swedish navy is on a 36-hour recall basis. "Our purpose is defense, of course," he said.

"We have remained neutral through two wars; we hope to remain neutral if there is a third."

IN CASE OF WAR

He said that policy was to keep navy ships dispersed in widely-separated ports in case of war's outbreak.

The Swedish navy has 20 destroyers, three light cruisers and 20 submarines, plus auxiliary craft.

Alvsbaden will be here until Saturday, visiting Vancouver before turning toward home.

PEANUTS

I JUST FOUND OUT THAT FIRST CROTS ARE OFTEN THE MOST HIGHLY PAID MEN IN THE ORCHESTRA.

WHAT IN ALL THIS WORLD COULD BE MORE EXCITING THAN BEING MARRIED TO A RICH OBOE PLAYER?

Mr. Woodburn said most city clubs confine membership and guests to whites over 21.

The sergeant said "Get out of here, get out." I told him why I was there and he replied, "I don't care. Get out of here."

King's 27-year-old Calgary-born wife Thelma, a white, said today she felt as badly about the Tillicum incident as did her husband.

"We don't like it," she said. "It's very wrong."

Tillicum secretary Fred Richardson today declined comment on the incident, except to ask, "They have lots of clubs in Chinatown, haven't they?"

The incident was Victoria's third complaint of racial discrimination in just over a month.

The sites purchased by the Montreal firm had been held by Principal Investments Ltd. and Loblaw Groceria Co. Ltd., both of Toronto.

Four City Surveyors Sworn In' at Meet

Four new Victoria surveyors received their commissions at the 54th annual general meeting of the Corporation of Land Surveyors of British Columbia at the Empress Hotel today.

The four successful Victoriaans are:

C. H. Bracey, A. C. Bridge, C. J. Jackman and E. S. W. Andrews. Mr. Andrews came to Victoria from Dovercourt, England, five years ago.

These 12 other successful candidates from other parts of B.C. received their commissions from B.C.L.S. president A. H. Rafts of Victoria.

The 12 others are:

R. Johnson, Nelson; D. A. Duffy, Vancouver; R. Goble, Prince George; R. Chapman, Dawson Creek; R. G. Cairns, Vancouver (formerly of Winnipeg); G. E. McLaren, T. L. Jones, C. P. Aplin, G. B. Miller, R. J. Peck and V. C. Goudall, all of Vancouver.

"We are very pleased to welcome these worthy newcomers to our profession," Mr. Rafts said, "and we wish them every success in the years ahead."

Mr. Rafts said that a large number of candidates entered both for the preliminary and final examinations last April. In the preliminary, 15 out of 32 candidates passed, while six others were given exemptions.

"A total of 19 new articled pupils were added to our strength during the year."

After taking the preliminary examination, B.C. candidates are articled to a licensed surveyor for three years before taking their final.

Mr. Rafts said some 44 candidates will be eligible to write final exams next April, of whom it is expected about 30 will present themselves.

He added that the past year had been "a very busy one" despite the general business recession "which is just now beginning to ease off."

DEAR ABBY...

She Has a Point!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: The new dress styles are bad enough, but at least they don't do any physical harm. How about those pointed shoes? I went from shoe store to shoe store trying to buy a pair of shoes but I was told all they had were the new pointed shoes. So I went home and had my old shoes re-heeled and re-soled and I am going to keep right on having them re-heeled and re-soled until I can buy some shoes that fit me. My toes do not grow

DEAR ABBY: I've heard a lot of arguments about who's smarter, men or women. You don't see men falling for every crazy new style that comes along. They tried to give us embroidered shirts and ruffled cuffs, but nobody went for it. In the past 35 years men's styles haven't changed much. Suits are a trifle tighter (or looser) and buttons moved an inch or two and lapels are varied; but men haven't looked ridiculous since they threw away the powdered wigs and satin knee-braces. Women have ruined their looks with the flat-look chemise and trapézé. Their shoes are submerges and their hair does look like unmade army cots. Who's smarter? The answer is obvious.

DEAR ABBY: Send me a postcard and join Abby's W.W.F.S. Anonymous. This club (Won't Wear Freakish Styles) already has thousands of members (men, too) who protest the new styles and refuse to wear or buy them. Try the suggestion offered by "Round Toes" above.

DEAR ABBY: I am a member of your W.W.F.S. Anonymous (Won't Wear Freakish Styles) and I went shopping because I wanted a new dress for my sister's wedding. They told me the sack dresses were out, but they had something new which was very feminine, flattering and lovely. I was shown the Empire style which is a nightgown tied under the armpits with a string. Is this their idea of something lovely? It's worse than the sack.

STILL LOOKING.

DEAR ABBY: What are you trying to do? Ruin the ladies' dress business? Your W.W.F.S. Club encourages women to stop buying and that is very bad for the nation's business. I own a ladies' dress shop and I have to sell what the manufacturers give me. They have to manufacture what the dress designers give them. Women are very susceptible to suggestion and when millions of women get together and quit buying, a major depression could result. Please reconsider and put a stop to this club.

RETAILER.

DEAR RETAILER: If you saw the thousands of letters I've received from women who say they haven't had a dress in two years because they say they couldn't find anything "decent", you'd realize that I am trying to help you—not hurt you. I DO know that the sooner you get those beautiful, flattering feminine styles back into your store, they'll sell like hot cakes. I don't know whose idea it was to sabotage us women, but I hope you'll take this to your leader.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It's Not the Dress, It's You—
Better Start Marathon Now

Most women must watch their weight from middle age on, even though this may not have been a problem during younger years.

I have to watch the pounds with an eagle eye or they slip up on me. Sometimes I feel downright rebellious when I put on a dress I haven't worn for a couple of weeks and have trouble closing the zipper and find the seams under tension!

My first inclination is to blame it on the dry cleaner or the glands I inherited. However, I must admit that in most instances the scales reveal a gain of around five pounds. Even five pounds can make a big difference in the way you feel and look.

As you know I am now offering you my 8-Week Self-Improvement Marathon as I do each January. Tens of thousands of women join each year to see how much they can improve themselves in this period of time.

Eight weeks is not long but, these next eight weeks can be the most important ones in your life. At the end of Marathon you can literally look ten years younger. You can lose bulges, overweight (as much as 20 pounds), and greatly improve your posture, complexion and hair.

I feel sure that we women live up to the picture we have of ourselves. If we are aware of defects in physical attractiveness, this is apt to be reflected in personality. Many times in my classes I have seen the metamorphosis from overweight to a slender figure, from fatigue to energy, from self-consciousness to self-confidence. It is conceivable that the changes you can make in yourself during Marathon weeks could affect the whole course of your life.

There are many factors which lead to increase in pudge as the years pass. In the first place most women are less active physically. They may give up sports and dancing, and fail to indulge in more strenuous exercise.

Also, the glandular system slows down somewhat and from middle age on women have more leisure time and, therefore, indulge in more social life. This latter is usually fraught with high calorie foods.

Why not join the fun with thousands of other women to see how much you can improve yourself in eight weeks? If you would like to have my Marathon booklet, which gives you all necessary information about diet and exercise, tells you how to analyze your figure faults, gives you a weight chart and calorie chart, and a formula which will help improve your personality, send 10 cents and a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Washout Cuts B.C. Interior Highway

OSOYOOS (CP) — A heavy run-off of rain and thawing snow from Anarchist Mountain washed out the Southern Trans-Provincial highway in two places near here today, cutting off the route to the southeast towns of Grand Forks, Rossland and Trail.

Crowds Cheer As De Gaulle Takes Office

(See Page 14)

PARIS (UPI) — Gen. Charles de Gaulle, 67, took office today as first president of the Fifth Republic. He asked former justice minister Michel Debre to become premier and help restore the past glories of France.

Alberni Homes Flooded

Thirty homes on River Road in Alberni were surrounded by water today when a combination of 36 hours of incessant rain, nine inches of melting snow, the highest tide of the winter, and a high wind forced the Somaass River over its banks.

The flood came so unexpectedly with the peak of the high tide at 11:15 a.m. that many people were cut off in their homes.

At press time the flood waters were receding, without causing any known hazard or loss of life.

"That is fortunate," said Alberni works superintendent Bob Waugh. "All we could do was stand there helpless."

SURROUNDED

Seven homes along Pineo Road also were completely surrounded by water.

Flood water covered River Road to a depth of three feet in places, and extended westward to Riverhead Bridge across the river.

No effort has been made to estimate damage by water, but it is expected all basements, and in some instances ground floors, were inundated.

Not even high-wheeled trucks could negotiate the road, and several cars were stalled.

One bus was stranded with its passengers and driver, while another vacant bus found itself marooned on dry ground.

Unions Want Arrow

Industry 'Ruin' Warning Issued

OTTAWA (UPI) — Representatives of 35,000 Canadian aircraft workers bluntly told the federal government, today, that it must order the controversial CF-105 Avro Arrow fighter plane into "substantial" production or face a hasty deterioration of the country's aircraft industry.

But it emphasized the Arrow. The entire future of the industry was "hanging in the balance" on the government's decision on its production, they said.

The government has as yet made no final decision on the supersonic-speed jet interceptor.

In a Sept. 23 announcement Prime Minister Diefenbaker put off a decision until March and at the same time announced that Canada would purchase the U.S.-produced Bomarc ground-to-air missile.

The government must produce the CF-105, the workers' brief said. A decision to substitute the Bomarc would finish the home industry and deal a severe blow to the over-all Canadian economy, it argued.

Debre, 46, a dynamic Gaullist who has followed the general since wartime days, said he expected to form a cabinet within 24 hours.

De Gaulle summoned Debre to Elysee Palace just 40 minutes after he had accepted the cheering accolades of 500,000 Frenchmen in a triumphal ride along the Champs Elysees.

De Gaulle the general became "Monsieur le President" in a solemn ceremony at the palace, where he assumed such great powers that the future of France itself now rests on his shoulders.

STIRRING SPEECH

His stirring inaugural speech hit the note of glory and conviction in the destiny of the French nation which is the mystical credo of the tall, angular, uncompromising man.

He gazed at the array of officials representing all the institutions of France and its far-flung overseas territories and said: "this gathering has the majestic character which is befitting to its purpose."

"We are now restoring to vigor the refurbished institutions of the French Republic and those of the French community," he said.

The man to whom the French Republic and this French community have once again given the task of leading them to their destiny is taking over his functions."

De Gaulle succeeded President Rene Coty, last of the nearly-powerless presidents of the defunct Fourth Republic. The Fourth Republic was swept out of existence by a political instability that sapped France's place as a great power.

Ike Urges Courtesy For Mikoyan

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, noting demonstrations against Anastas Mikoyan in United States cities, called today for courteous treatment of the Soviet visitor.

The White House made it clear that Eisenhower is disturbed by these demonstrations against the touring Soviet deputy premier.

In Cleveland Wednesday Mikoyan was greeted by chanting, shouting, sign-waving demonstrators.

A young woman, identified as a Hungarian refugee, was arrested for throwing a rock in the general direction of the Soviet visitor.

Mikoyan arrived in Detroit today at Willow Run airport without any picket incidents.

Baltic national groups had pickets at the airport to protest his visit. But officials rushed the Soviet official out of a rear door of the airplane hangar and drove from the airport by a roundabout route.

He made a brief address at the airport commenting that Russia's automobile industry was developing with the aid of Detroit auto experts.

Police lined overpasses along the "Kings Highway" to protect Mikoyan's caravan as it passed en route to the Ford Motor Company research centre in Dearborn, Mich.

Mother Acquitted

Havana Gives Castro Triumphant Welcome

(See Page 3)

HAVANA (UPI) — Fidel Castro, who led the rebel forces which overthrew the regime of dictator Fulgencio Batista, entered the city of Havana to a hero's welcome today.

The bearded, 32-year-old Castro reached the capital at the head of an armored column of his men following a triumphant trip through the heart of the island from Oriente province in the east.

Everywhere he stopped, Castro was mobbed by the populace.

Castro stood in a jeep flanked by four bodyguards as he entered Havana.

His jeep was preceded by eight to 10 tanks and armored cars.

Guns from Cabana fortress thundered a 21-gun salute to the hero of the revolution.

Vessels in Havana Bay broke out their holiday bunting. Warplanes roared overhead. Warships in the bay began firing their salutes at 3 p.m. Church bells pealed a welcome.

The city was in turmoil with a wild mixture of honking horns, shouts of "Viva," and cheers for Castro.

All business was at a virtual standstill, with employees turned loose to cheer Castro, the man who ousted Batista and proclaimed Dr. Manuel Urrutia provisional president.

Castro arrived in Detroit today at Willow Run airport without any picket incidents.

15 Children Die, Trapped by Fire

BOSWELL, Okla. (AP) — Sixteen persons, 15 of them children or teen-agers, died today in a roaring fire in a four-room wooden home.

All the bodies except that of one child were piled on and around a bed in a rear room which had no outside door.

Apparently no one successfully pushed the one child out a window before succumbing. But the child was dead.

The victims were Mrs. Ara Gardner, 38; her 10 children; three orphaned nieces; and two visiting nephews from Oklahoma City.

Bookner Gardner, the father, was away hunting.

Almost in shock and his face haggard, Gardner cried over and over:

"My Lord, my Lord, my Lord."

He walked about aimlessly, apparently unable to comprehend immediately the disaster that struck his family.

All the victims were Negroes.

The volunteer fire department could use only a pumper truck because no fire hydrant was within usable distance. The truck made four trips to obtain water.

Constable J. B. Richburg, who drove the pumper to the fire, said the roof had collapsed before firemen arrived.

By that time it was obvious there was no chance for the victims.

Gardner said when he left for his hunting trip, two stoves, burning wood, were in use.

Richburg said he believed the disaster was caused by the stoves. He said the family apparently panicked when the fire was discovered and rushed into one room.
